BELGIUM GIVES UP

300,000 SURRENDER

BELGIANS LAY DOWN ARMS ON KING LEOPOLD'S ORDER

PARIS, May 28 (AP)—The Belgian army surrendered to Germany today on orders of King Leopold III, leaving the armies of Great Britain and France in an ominously weaker position to resist the Nazi drive toward the English channel.

The Allies lost the military support of about 300,000 men in 18 Belgian divisions and the French port of Dunkirk, where supplies have been reaching the hemmed-in Allied armies, was left undefended.

A German announcement said the Belgian forces "affected by the capitulation may roughly comprise half a million men."—Editor note.

Belgium's unconditional surrender was announced to the startled French nation by Premier Reynaud in a bitterly sarcastic speech in which he called the action "without precedent in history."

But the French high command declared the Allies would continue to fight and their lines were reported holding solidly along the Somme and Aisne river line to the Maginot bulwark in the east.

Belgian Premier Hubert Pierlot broadcast a declaration over the French radio that Belgium's government had no part in the King's capitulation and said "the act of one man does not commit the entire nation."

Pierlot said the Belgian government had decided to continue the battle against the Germans and had ordered reorganization of the Belgian army in France.

Heavy German attacks along the Meuse river were said to have collapsed under hot fire from French positions.

Although the Belgian army admittedly was an "important force" in the Allied campaign to stop the German advance, Reynaud said it had

Text of Reynaud's Speech

PARIS, May 28 (AP)—In breaking the news of the Belgian capitulation to the French nation, Premier Reynaud in his radio address today said:

"I must announce to the French people a grave event. This event occurred last night. France can no longer count on the Belgian army.

"Since 4 a. m., Tuesday (10 m. E. S. T. Monday), the French army and the British army have been fighting alone in the north against the enemy.

"You know what the situation was.

"After the rupture of our front May 14, the German army filtered between our armies, which found themselves broken into two groups, one to the north and the other to the south.

KING LEOPOLD

HOLDING IN SOUTH

"On the South it is the French divisions which are holding the new front following the Somme and Aisne rivers and then rejoining intact the Maginot line.

"In the North was a group of three armies—the Belgian army, the British Expeditionary Corps and several French divisions in which many of us have loved ones.

"This group of three armies was under the command of Gen. Blanchard. It was supplied via Dunkirk. The French and British armies were defending this port on the south and west, the Belgian army on the north.

"It was this Belgian army which has just brusquely capitulated unconditionally on the field of battle on the order of its King without warning their French and British comrades in combat, opening the way to Dunkirk to the Germans.

NO NOTICE GIVEN

"Eighteen days ago this same King, who up to that time had seemed to attach the same value to the word fo Germany as to that of the Allies, sent us a call for help.

"To this we replied, following the plan which had been established since last December by the Allied general staffs.

"But, in full battle, King Leopold III of Belgium — without warning General Blanchard, without consideration of a word for the French and British soldiers who had come to the help of his country in response to his anguished appeal—King Leopold III laid down his arms.

"It is a fact without precedent in history.

"The Belgian government has told me that the decision of the King was taken against the unanimous sentiment of his responsible ministers. The government added it had decided itself to put at the service of the Allied cause all the forces of his country which were still available, and particularly that it wished to raise a new army and collaborate in the work of arming France.

"It is about our soldiers that we are thinking.

"They can say their honor is intact. They are making a magnificent effort along the whole front. Every day during the 18 days of battle they have given thousands of examples of heroism. Young French generals who have hardly had time to replace their elders have already covered themselves with glory.

"Our leaders and our soldiers form a bloc in which the country has entire confidense and which tomorrow will draw the admiration of the world.

SAD DAYS HERE

"We knew that sad days were coming. They have come.

"France has been invaded a hundred times and never beaten. That much our courageous populations in the North must remember. It is from the tests we are awaiting that the new spirit of France will be forged —a spirit which will be greater than ever.

PREMIER REYNAUD

"Our faith in victory is intact.

"The strength of every soldier, of every French man and every French woman is increased 10 times. Misfortune has always bolstered France. She has never been as united as today.

"On the new line which has just been established by our great chieftain, Gen. Maxime Weygand, in full accord with Marshal Petain, on the Somme and on the Aisne, we will hold—and because we have held we will win."

NAZIS BREAK FRENCH LINES AGAIN, CAPTURE SIX TOWNS

BERLIN, May 28 (AP)—The German high command declared today that Nazi forces had broken through strong French border fortifications on a broad front.

Its communique said the break through was made north of Valenciennes.

West of Valenciennes, it said, the Scheldt canal was crossed and Orchies and Douai, French towns south of Lille, were taken.

"Against the Belgian army, we gained ground rapidly, after hard fights," its communique said, "and now stand 10 kilometers outside Bruges and Thourout.

CLOST FIGHTING

"Thielt was passed and a strong enemy artillery group there was stormed in close fighting.

"In recognition of the hopeless situation, the Belgian army under the leadership of its King, in strength of about 400,000 to 500,000 men, laid down arms."

Allied forces trapped in Belgium and northern France constantly are being pressed closer together despite "embittered resistance" as the German armies narrow the battle front, it said.

Besides Douai and Orchies, the high command reported capture of La Bassee, Merville, Hazebrouck and Bourboug-Bille.

CHANNEL PORTS BOMBED

Bombardments of the Zeebrugge, Nieuport, Ostend and Dunkirk waterfronts by German warplanes raiding channel ports during the night were reported.

The high command said an Allied destroyer was "severely hit" by an aerial bomb in the English channel.

Repelling Allied tank attacks on the southern front, it said, German forces destroyed 30.

Allied air losses yesterday were said to have been 92, against German losses of 23.

A 3000-ton Allied transport was reported sunk by a Nazi torpedo speedboat.

Nazis Say 500,000 Belgians Quit; Leopold Saves His Throne by Act

FRENCH PRISONERS OF WAR EN ROUTE TO GERMAN PRISON CAMP
Men Trapped, Captured in Nazi Break-Through at the Meuse

BERLIN, May 28 (AP) — Germans hailed the capitulation of King Leopold's Belgian army today as marking the collapse of the main line of resistance of the Allied army of 1,000,000 which the swift Nazi legions had trapped in Flanders.

Hitler's headquarters said the surrender was "unconditional," and estimated that "roughly half a million men" were involved.

BELGIAN LEADERS DISOWN KING ASSAILED AS TRAITOR

PARIS, May 28—Belgian leaders in France announced today they had decided to "disown" King Leopold after his order for unconditional surrender of the Belgian army.

The leaders said they would meet at the Belgian embassy today to lay charges against the 38-year-old monarch and organize a provisional government.

The decision to "disown" the king was reached at a meeting last night, they said.

Reorganization of the Belgian army will also be taken up at the meeting before President R. Gillon of the Belgian Senate and President Franz van Cauwelaert of the Chamber.

MINISTERS SUMMONED

A number of ministers who had been in London came to Paris during the night, on urgent summons for the "New Belgium" meeting.

Shouts of "treason!" and "pro-German!" were heard in Paris streets when Frenchmen learned of the capitulation of King Leopold.

The man in the street automatically contrasted Leopold's action with the four year dogged stand of his father, "the beloved and fearless" Albert.

The French recalled how their frontiers had been opened to millions of Belgian refugees.

MORALE UNSHAKEN

One man said angrily:

"We stopped our Maginot line at the Belgian frontier because we had an alliance with Belgium. Then Leopold went 'completely independent' and refused to discuss defense plans with us until the hour of invasion sounded."

But French morale apparently has not been shaken.

"We've been betrayed from within and betrayed from without but we'll win just the same," seemed to be the general reaction.

Belgian newspaper correspondents in Paris made public a manifesto excoriating King Leopold's action. The declaration read:

"Leopold has surrendered.

"Leopold has betrayed his country.

"He has failed to fulfill the constitution and his oath."

"King Leopold capitulated alone," a French spokesman said.

"He did not consult the army, the people or the government. All the responsibility is his.

"The Belgian army has our sympathy for its heroic conduct at Liege, at Namur and in the battle of Flanders.

"The Belgian people are just as thunderstruck as we are."

ARMY PAPER BITTER

"Belgium Betrayed by King," was the scorching banner headline carried by La Meuse, organ of the French army officers, which published an "extra" telling of the capitulation of King Leopold.

Other La Meuse headlines told the officers:

"Entire Nation Condemns King."

"Government Repudiates King."

Alarmed British Call Surrender Treason Act

LONDON, May 28—Capitulation of the army of King Leopold of the Belgians today was regarded in some quarters in London as the gravest news of the war.

Although official reaction was not immediately forthcoming, one British attitude was reflected in an afternoon newspaper headline which referred to "action taken behind the backs of his Allies" by King Leopold.

The gravity with which the news was received was emphasized by the way it was spread across the front pages of the evening newspapers.

Outright condemnation of King Leopold's capitulation was voiced by the London Evening Standard which published an editorial under the heading:

"King Quisling—savage, treach-

Stocks Topple $1 to $7

NEW YORK, May 28 (AP)—A barrage of selling toppled leading stocks $1 to more than $7 in Wall street markets today on news of Belgium's surrender and the precarious position of the Allied armies in the Flanders pocket.

Bethlehem Steel, a favorite "war baby," broke more than $7 on the initial transaction, which was recorded on the ticker 15 minutes after dealings began.

Also heavy losers were such shares as United States Steel, American Telephone, Chysler, General Motors, duPont, United Aircraft, Douglas and Anaconda Copper.

Dealings, fast for a while, slowed to a crawl when recoveries began to appear. Around midday extreme losses had been cut by $2 a share of so.

Commodities broke with stocks and bonds fell. Cotton futures, at the worst, were off about $2.50 a bale as the British limited American imports to conserve dollar exchange. "Free" sterling and the French franc weakened.

King Leopold himself asked for the armistice, said the high command from the headquarters of Fuehrer Hitler.

The announcement stated King Leopold had "accepted the German demand of unconditional capitulation."

Germans generally hailed King Leopold's decision as a prelude to collapse of the main line of resistance of the Allied army of 1,000,000 men in Flanders.

KING SAVES THRONE

Hitler's headquarters said the surrender was "unconditional."

By capitulating, Leopold saved his throne so far as the Germans are concerned.

Adolf Hitler was reported "profoundly stirred" both by the soldierly attitude of the Belgian king and at his political wisdom in capitulation when, in the German view, further resistance was hopeless.

In some form or other, assuming Germany is victorious, Leopold will be permitted to continue functioning as King, informed sources predicted.

Later, a second announcement was issued stating that the Belgian King had reached his decision against the views of the majority of his government, which is sitting in Paris.

The Belgian government was charged with being chiefly responsible for the "catastrophe," and it was said it still seemed inclined to obey orders of "English-French employers."

UNDER GERMAN GUNS

The first announcement from Hitler's headquarters said:

"Under the persuasion of the destructive effects of German arms, the King of the Belgians has arrived at the decision, in order to put an end to further senseless resistance, to request an armistice.

"He accepted the German demand of unconditional capitulation. Thus the Belgian army today downed arms and ceased to exist."

The second announcement said:

"The King of the Belgians, in order to put an end to further bloodshed and the wholly purposeless destruction of his coun-

THE WAR TODAY—As Leopold, King of the Belgians, surrendered his great army of approximately 300,000 men, the Germans pushed forward at two points, breaking through the Allied lines near Vimy and between Bruges and Ghent (arrows). The Belgians abandoned the city of Dunkirk to the Nazis, thereby shutting off supplies to the encircled British army. Now, the Allies are pocketed precariously from the Cambrai sector to the English channel, with six towns newly seized.

Girl Granted Mercy In Holdup Car Case

Found guilty of falsely registering and insuring an auto allegedly used by four youths in a series of Greater Boston robberies, pretty, red-headed Evelyn McFaun, 20-year-old Cambridge girl, was given a suspended Sherborn Reformatory sentence in Brighton court today.

Police told Judge Thomas H. Connelly Miss McFaun used the name Evelyn Logan in getting registration plates and insurance for a roadster she allegedly bought in Brighton for $70.

Three of four young defendants now held on robbery and breaking and entering charges were driving the auto when they were arrested at Stafford Springs, Ct., according to police.

GRANTED LENIENCY

Miss McFaun, the court was told, was formerly the sweetheart of a brother of one of the accused youths.

Special Officer Michael J. Cullinane of the Brighton station asked Judge Connelly to suspend the McFaun girl's sentence, giving her a chance to break away from bad associates and turn over a new leaf.

"I will suspend the sentence," the judge told Miss McFaun, "but you must understand you must lead a decent life from now on or go to the reformatory."

Two of the four youths alleged to have used the auto Miss McFaun registered are Joseph R. Logan, 17, of Belmont and Daniel J. Perkins, 18, of Roxbury.

TWO BOYS ARE HELD

The other two are juveniles.

Logan and Perkins were held in $10,000 each in municipal court on charges of robbery and conspiracy.

The Norfolk County grand jury in special session returned indictments charging Logan and two juveniles with assault with intent to kill and robbery of James Gordon, 59, of Winchester st., Brookline.

Gordon is at Peter Bent Brigham Hospital in critical condition from a skull fracture suffered when he was waylaid near his home two weeks ago.

In municipal court, Special Officer John J. McDermott declared that the boys were wanted for questioning in connection with a series of holdups and breaks running through Middlesex, Norfolk and Suffolk Counties.

Mother Pleads For Son's Life

LANCASTER, O., May 28 (AP)—Mrs. Thomas Lee, of Norwood, Mass., testified as a character witness today for her son, Robert E. Lee, 18, who is charged with first degree murder in the death of Axel Stromstead, a school employe, during an attempted escape from a boys' industrial institution here.

Police said the youth had admitted striking Stromstead with a cloth-wrapped iron bar during an effort to flee the school on May 31, 1939.

The case was expected to go to the jury of nine men and three women today.

LAKE DRAGGED FOR BODY

WATERBORO, Me., May 28—Volunteers grappled today in the waters of Ossipee lake for the body of Carl Hill, 17, of Kennebunk, who was drowned after becoming panicky and standing up in his canoe.

GEORGE TIFFANY AND OFFICER O'BRIEN
Cashier Questioned in $911 Theft

KELLY FIRST TO ENTER RACE FOR GOVERNOR

Forecasting that he will have no opposition, former Lieut.-Gov. Francis E. Kelly of Dorchester today took out papers for the Democratic nomination for Governor.

Kelly, who announced his plans last January, thus became the first to secure papers for the governorship.

"This is an important step toward ending the reign of His Excellency, Gov. Leverett Saltonstall, and restoration to Massachusetts of the Democratic principles that are badly needed in these troublesome days," said Kelly after receiving the papers from William N. Hardy, deputy secretary of state.

SEES NO OPPOSITION

"The men and women of moderate circumstances now realize their dire need of a Governor who will champion their rights for the years 1941 and 1942.

"The Democratic party of our Commonwealth is looking to Francis E. Kelly as the logical candidate again to defeat Leverett Saltonstall, as I did in 1938 with a record-breaking vote when I was elected lieutenant-governor.

"This, coupled with indications that I will probably be unopposed, is in line with my advocacy of harmony in the Democratic party and toward the one goal—a vigorous and clean campaign of issues that will return Massachusetts to the people, where it rightfully belongs."

1000 MUST SIGN

The papers must contain at least 1000 signatures of voters who are either enrolled in the Democratic party or not enrolled in any party, with at least 250 signatures from voters of four separate counties.

The signatures must be submitted to the registrar of voters or election commissioners of the communities before 5 p. m. Tuesday, July 23, and they must be in the hands of the Secretary of State before 5 p. m. on Tuesday, July 30.

Races Blamed For $911 Loss

Police detectives today questioned George C. Tiffany, 23, cashier of a credit firm in Kenmore sq., concerning the loss of $911.60 of the company's funds which he allegedly spent trying to beat the horses Saturday afternoon.

Tiffany, whose home is in Bay State rd., Back Bay, first reported he had been held up and robbed by a man who claimed to be the husband of a girl with whom he recently became acquainted.

Special Officers Arthur Blood and Roy Bates, called to the credit company's office, were dissatisfied with the story, however.

Under further questioning, they reported, Tiffany finally admitted taking the money to the track, but his system failed to work.

He won $100 on a single race, Tiffany was quoted as saying, then lost steadily.

In the final race he played $500 on one horse, a long shot, which came in last, police said, and the cashier returned home with 60 cents in his pocket.

Cardinal O'Connell will speak at a solemn high mass at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross Sunday, feature of opening exercises in Greater Boston commemorating the eighth centenary of the founding of Portugal as an independent nation.

Consular representatives of several nations and officials of state and city will attend. The world-wide celebration will extend through December 2.

Bishop Cassidy Ends 10 Years of Service

FALL RIVER, May 28—Bishop James E. Cassidy embarked today on a new era in his service as bishop of Fall River.

Clergy and laity of the diocese were the first to congratulate the churchman on the 10th anniversary of his consecration as bishop. He was ordained in Providence in 1898 and became bishop of Ibora and auxiliary bishop of Fall River on May 27, 1930.

RED CROSS DRIVE IS NEAR GOAL

In a stretch drive to meet its quota of $300,000 by Saturday, volunteer workers of the Boston Metropolitan chapter of the Red Cross will hold a huge mass meeting for the general public at the Hotel Statler tonight.

Motion pictures of actual bombings and the havoc wreaked by total warfare in the past month of Europe's war will be shown.

To date $210,000 has been collected, and J. W. Farley, general chairman of the local drive, is seeking to maintain national leadership for Boston and go "over the top first." The national quota is $10,000,000 and on the speed of its collection hinges departure of at least one additional supply ship for Allied refugees.

The drive for Boston's quota of the $10,000,000 national fund sought by the organization will be speeded by 200 volunteer workers in its closing days, Farley said.

He listed county employes as already subscribing 183 per cent of the quota assigned to them. The fire department, police department and other city and county employes have subscribed 91 pe. cent of their quota.

"Millions of pounds of food must be rushed to the aid of the 5,000,000 refugees now wandering over the roads of France, if starvation and disease are to be avoided," Farley said.

He stated that one food ship is already rushing supplies across the Atlantic to France, but that many more must be sent.

Dorchester Day Celebration Set

Dorchester homes and business establishments were arrayed in buntings and flags today in preparation for Dorchester Day celebration on Saturday, when 25,000 marchers and 100 floats will parade the streets. Chief Marshal for the parade is Leo F. Murphy.

Among the parade features will be a living human flag formed by 125 girl members of the Companions of the Forests of America. A squadron of bombers from the Squantum naval air base will fly over the parade route.

Bodies of 2 Boys Found in Ice Box

ROSEVILLE Cal., May 28 (AP)—The bodies of Richard Payne, eight, and Bobby Richmond, four, were found in an ice box in a shed on their parents' property before last midnight.

Lou Allen, chief of police, said it was possible they had been locked in by playmates, but that he was investigating the possibility of murder. The bodies were in separate compartments.

N.H. Woman Charges Father, 76, Shot Her

SPOFFORD, N. H., May 28 (AP)—Mrs. May Pearson, 38, stumbled into the home of former Selectman John Mansley, a neighbor, today and told him, he reported to police, that her father, George Phetteplace, 76, had shot her in the right side.

Sheriff Frank J. Bennett and State Police Officer Chester L. Hartwell took the aged man into custody for questioning, while the wounded woman was removed to a hospital.

Mansley quoted Mrs. Pearson as saying the shooting took place while her husband, Axel, was at work and her two daughters were in school. She gave no motive.

Bennett said the only sign of blood found in th home was on the back of a little white dog which had followed his mistress to the Mansley home.

A .32 calibre revolver was found in Phettelplace's bedroom, the sheriff said. It was taken for examination. Officers said the father appeared vague.

Boy Fails to Save Drowning Brother

AMESBURY, May 28—Despite the efforts of an older brother to save him, 14-year-old Albert Chabot was a victim of drowning when seized with cramps in Lake Gardner.

LAWRENCE MAN'S WILL CANCELS ALL RENT OWED HIM

LAWRENCE, May 28—Cancellation of indebtedness began today for all those who owed rent money to the late William J. Collins of Lawrence, who died last April 29.

For this was one of the provisions in his will, filed in Salem probate court and disposing of an estate of $45,000.

The will contained many public bequests.

"In the event that at the time of my death any of my tenants owe rent, I request my executor to cancel the indebtedness against them and give them a receipt in full," he stated in his will.

The will also directed that his funeral cost no more than $900 and that he be buried in St. William's cemetery at Ware.

Chief among his bequests was $17,500 to Roman Catholic homes, churches and charitable societies and $4000 to friends. Relatives received the remainder.

Dionne Quints Have Their 6th Birthday

By INEZ ROBB
International News Service Staff Writer

CALLANDER, Ont., May 28—Today the most famous five-of-a-kind in history cease to be babies. The Dionne quintuplets will make their debut as little ladies.

Today they celebrate the sixth anniversary of their miraculous birth in a French-Canadian farm house. This day marks their transition from babyhood into childhood.

They are beautiful, good, intelligent, rich, healthy and beloved by everyone—a rare combination of diverse blessings in this world.

Annette, Cecile, Emilie, Marie and Yvonne own approximately $790,000 in government bonds and cash, they are pretty as pictures, radiant with health, good in the way of all well-disciplined children, smart as whips with a seven-year-old I-Q rating, endowed by nature with an extraordinary gift for artistic expression and still the darlings of a world that succumbed to their first baby pictures.

BIRTHDAY CAKE

But all this means nothing more momentous to the quintuplets than the possibility of a birthday cake.

"I want a cake with six candles," Emilie told your old and experienced correspondent, who had the fight of her life on her hands when she tried to get a word in edgewise among the chattering quintuplets as they romped in their grassy playground.

"Oui, oui, oui," went up a shrill chorus seconding Emilie's proposal as Marie and Yvonne paused momentarily in their attempt to pick all the dandelions in the lawn, as Annette labored valiantly to stick more dandelions in her nurse's cape and as Cecile paused at the top of their play slide to slap at a mosquito.

"I would like a kiss, too," opined Yvonne, the coquette, as she rolled her big brown eyes under lashes so long, dark and curly that they make Hollywood's phoney ones seem almost real.

"A new dress," Cecile replied replied promptly when asked what she wanted for her birthday present. This, for Cecile, by far the most clothes conscious quintuplet, was right in character.

SMALL MARIE SHY

Marie, the littlest of the quints at birth and still a speck smaller than her sisters, shyly whispered that she would like some flowers—roses preferably.

But by this time, they were bored with conversations about birthdays, even their own, and were whooping it up around the yard, in and out of swings, down their slide and over the landscape.

Well, they will have their cake—and eat it, too. That is, a little of it. Dr. Allan Roy Dafoe, who saved their lives and that of their pretty mother six years ago today, has decreed that they may have a few bites of the angel food cake to be baked in their own kitchen.

There will be plenty of kisses and presents. Yvonne, who told me she wanted a doll, will get that, too. Dr. Dafoe will provide a new doll for each of his pets.

SALUTE FOR BIRTHDAY—Dressed in their Junior Red Cross nurses' uniforms, the Dionne quintuplets salute the world on their sixth birthday. If the five sisters can sit still long enough, Dr. Allan Dafoe has promised them a birthday cake . . . but only a few bites each.

Crossley in Race For Attorney General

FALL RIVER, May 28—Dist. Atty. William C. Crossley announced today he was a candidate for the Republican nomination for attorney-general.

Crossley, who once served two terms in the State Legislature, is now in his 14th consecutive year as district attorney of Barnstable, Bristol, Dukes County and Nantucket.

Father of Maritime Chief Moran Dies

ROCKLAND, Me., May 28 (AP)—Edward C. Moran, 70, Rockland postmaster and father of Maritime Commissioner E. C. Moran, Jr., died in a hospital today after a heart attack.

The elder Moran served as chairman of the Democratic State Committee during 1928, in which year his son was an unsuccessful Democratic candidate for Governor.

Job Sale Charges Go to Grand Jury

Five or six indictments will be sought by an Essex County grand jury in the probe of job sales in Lawrence city departments, it was reported today.

It was expected that the grand jury would take up the cases at the June sitting and that Dist. Atty. Hugh A. Cregg would be asked to appoint a special prosecutor, not only to present evidence, but also to try cases in the event indictments were returned.

Latest to appear in the job sales probe before the State civil service commission at the State House was Thomas F. Galvin, Lawrence public safety commissioner.

Though he had previously announced he would not submit himself for questioning unless ordered to do so by a court, Galvin answered some of the questions put to him and failed to answer others, according to Director Ulysses J. Lupien of the civil service.

Galvin was accompanied by his attorney, George McLaughlin of Boston, who could not say whether Galvin would be asked to appear again.

SAMUSIC IN PIANO BOX

PROVIDENCE R. I., May 28 (AP)—The piano box blues were being sung today by four small Providence boys whose little brown dog barked at the wrong time and thereby hid their night of A. W. O. L. from home.

The quiet took up residence last night in an empty piano crate behind a siding in Westminster st., leaving the dog outside on watch.

It was tranquil scene until Patrolman Hard E. Robinson, try ing doors at 5:15 a. m., was severely barked at.

"Who's there?" he demanded of the piano box.

The record does not say whether the patrolman or the boys were the most surprised at the answer.

Police said the contents of the piano box identified themselves as Roland and Donald MacIntosh, 7 and 9½ of Bates st., and Robert and David Hedges, 8 and 10, of Lippitt st.

The Hedges boys said the dog is theirs and is named Teddy.

Forester Aid To Defense Seen

Unanimous approval of a resolution approving plans for national defense and pledging support of 40,000 members of the Massachusetts Catholic Order of Foresters was expected at the 61st annual Foresters convention at the New Ocean House in Swampscott today.

The resolution, introduced at the opening session of the two-day meeting, was roundly applauded and led officials to predict its enthusiastic adoption when it is voted upon today.

Highlights of the initial meeting was election of William H. Harrison, Jr., of Roxbury, high chief ranger.

BURLESON EX-WIFE REVEALS 5 RIVALS

COLUMBIA, S. C., May 28 (INS)—That Mrs. May Walker Burleson, first wife of Col. Richard C. Burleson, believed her former husband guilty of marital infidelity and had "affairs" with five other women was disclosed as the murder trial concluded its sixth day of testimony.

The first Mrs. Burleson has entered a plea of insanity as a defense to the state's charge she fatally shot her former husband's second wife, the former Mrs. Frank Knowlton of Boston, in a Columbia Hotel cafeteria last March 8.

The trial unexpectedly was lengthened today when defense attorneys Mrs. M. Burleson forced prosecutors to read a 100-page medical report in which was quoted Mrs. Burleson's conversations with physicians naming "other women" The medical report was compiled as observations on Mrs. Burleson's condition when she was admitted to the State Hospital.

Part of the report included a question of a staff physician, which asked:

"Tell me briefly the women with whom your husband had affairs?"

Mrs. Burleson named four eastern women, including the murder victim. In a later conversation, she named a fifth woman, wife of an army officer.

"I stopped all these affairs," the report quoted Mrs. Burleson, "by going to these women."

Custody Case Waits Until Divorce Trial

Whether the father, mother or seafaring granddad will be entrusted wit hthe care of six-year-old Eleanor Frances Powers of Gloucester rested today on the future decision of Judge John V. Phelan—a decision he is to make when the divorce case of the parents is heard in July.

Judge Phelan halted abruptly a custody battle in Salem Probate Court until the divorce action is heard. He called Capt. Collin Powers, veteran Gloucester skipper, and the little girl's father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Powers, into his chambers before takiig the postponing action.

Capt. Powers had taken the stand but a moment before to testify that he and his wife wanted to keep the grandchild themselves.

"We love her and she loves us. We wish to continue to give her a home, what advantages we can and a good education and upbringing," he said.

It was at this point that Judge Phelan interrupted testimony. He said he will dispose of both Powers' petition for divorce and the custody case at the same time in July, meantime continuing the case generally, and leaving the child in custody of her grandparents.

Previously, a gas-station attendant summoned from his work nearby, and appearing in his attendant's garb was identified as a "dark-haired man with a mustache" frequently referred to in previous testimony.

The witness, Joseph Charles McGee, denied that Mrs. Powers had ever taken the little girl on auto rides with them. He testified he had been in her company on different occasions, but insisted others were always in the party.

KNEW LLOYD, WILBUR

Following his appearance, Mrs. Powers was recalled to the witness stand and questioned as to whether she knew men named Wilbur Whitcomb and Lloyd Stanley.

She stated she knew them, adding that she had met Whitcomb when he worked next door to her and later when they were employed in the same plant.

"How many times have you been alone with him?" her husband's attorney asked.

"Never," she answered.

"Was he one of the young men responsible for the separation of you and your husband?" she was asked.

The question was excluded, however, after objection by her counsel. She said she had never been in Stanley's company since separation from her husband.

Boston Schools May Aid Defense

The facilities of Boston's schools today were offered in response to President Roosevelt's call for a speeded national defense program.

Members of the school committee asked that Federal funds be made available so that certain schools might be kept open this summer in the suggested work of training mechanics

Boston is one of the two cities in the east, and one of five in the entire country, where the Federal government sends army and navy airplanes to be overhauled and repaired at public schools where airplane mechanics are taught. The Boston Trade School is one that is certified by the Civil Aeronautic Commission for such work.

El Fare Rise Fight Grows

Widespread opposition to the Boston Elevated's decision to raise fares on four inbown bus lines from five to ten cents was forming today behind Representative George Leary of the West End.

A bill seeking stricter regulation by the Department of Public Utilities of the Elevated's scaling of fares in local districts will be sought from the Legislature, Leary said.

Abolition of the nickel fare on Massachusetts Station-Bowdoin Square, Copley Square-Rowes Wharf, South Station-Charles Station and West Newton Street-South Station routes wil work hardship principally on the poor of the West, North and South Ends, Leary declared.

First step will be an appeal to the Elevated to halt execution of the plan on Monday, the Representative said.

Lindbergh Expelled By Paris Escadrille

PARIS, May 28 (AP)—Honorary membership in the Lafayette Escadrille conferred on Col. Charles A. Lindbergh after his 1927 Atlantic crossing was withdrawn today by order of the Trench and Air Association of American Volunteer combatants in the French army in 1914-18, representing former pilots of the Escadrille.

The association announced its action was the result of Lindbergh's speech of last Saturday, which it clasified as "definitely opposed to the spirit of the American volunteers of the Lafayette Escadrille and Foreign Legion who rushed to the defense of France in 1914."

"INSULT TO DEAD"

The association's announcement said the title of honorary member was conferred on Col. Lindbergh "in a mometn of enthusiasm—mistaken but understandable."

The former pilots of the Lafayette Escadrille's announcement concluded:

"We believe that his words are an insult to the memory of the comrades who fell on the field of honor and who rest in the crypt of the Lafayette Escadrille monument at Garches."

Paul Rockwell, member of the Escadrille in the World War, who joined the famous Foreign Legion in the present war, is president of the association.

LINDBERGH'S SPEECH

The speech of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh's which roused veterans of the Lafayette Escadrille in Paris was broadcast over the United States from Washington May 19.

The flier warned the United States to stay out of Europe's troubles and said:

"We need not fear a foreign invasion unless American peoples bring it on through their own quarreling and meddling with affairs abroad.

"We are in danger of war today," he said, "not because European people have attempted to interfere with the internal affairs of America, but because American people have attempted to interfere with the internal affairs of Europe."

Lindbergh insisted that the geographic situation of the United States gave it natural advantages, with aviation as an asset, in preventing attacks from overseas, and urged adoption of a definite policy of defense.

N. E. BACKS DRIVE FOR RECRUITS

Co-operation of the six New England governors in the drive of the First Corps area of the army for 1117 recruits before June 30 has been asked by Maj.-Gen. James A. Woodruff, it was announced today.

Declaring the present national defense program to be "peace insurance," General Woodruff said the army depended "considerably upon patriotic citizens in its recruiting effort."

He said most of the quota would be for service with the field artillery and quartermaster corps, although vacancies in the ordinance and finance departments also existed.

LODGE FOR BIG ARMY

The move was pressed by Gen. Woodruff on the heels of demands from Sen. Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., at Washington for a standing army increase to 750,000 men.

The Massachusetts Senator urged the Senate to jump the army forces, on his return from active service in army maneuvers.

At the same time, Gen. Woodruff sought the aid of the New England governors in the current army drive for 1117 recruits here before June 30. He praised the aid given by publicly minded citizens during the winter months when the army was brought to its strength of 227,000 enlisted men.

NEED STRONG DEFENSE

In telling of army needs, Sen. Lodge stated:

"The increase of the army up to 280,000 men for which Congress has provided funds will not give us peace strength in all of the units of the army," said Senator Lodge. He added that even if this number were increased to 450,000, just to permit "double shifts," so that men would not be worked all day and all night, it would not increase the number of units. Nor would any such increase give the necessary anti-aircraft personnel and the harbor defense personnel that is now demanded by public opinion.

"I suggest," he said, "the figure of 750,000 men to give us a small standing army, only a little larger than the army which Belgium put into the field."

N. E. INDUSTRY SPEEDS BIG DEFENSE ORDERS

New England industry today speeded its participation in the nation's defense program, announcing receipt of new orders which will bring employment to thousands of hands.

At the same time, Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr., in speaking at Fall River, urged appointment of an able munitions administrator.

Martin declared that "the mere appropriation of money" was not enough and that a group of first class executives must be placed in a position so that we may be sure that the money goes for things "most essential."

One of the first effects seen in the manufacturing boom was new orders for some 200 factories in Massachusetts alone. Most of them benefited through orders placed by airplane manufacturers, the orders consisting of machine tools, fabrics and other materials.

The first major expansion move by the aviation industry since formation of the new national defense program was disclosed at the Hartford, Ct., plant of United Aircraft Corp.

Officials announced that $8,000,000 will be spent for additional facilities for its Pratt & Whitney division.

The proposed new construction, said Frederick B. Rentschler, United Aircraft chairman, will be started immediately at East Hartford on a site adjoining the present plant.

Rentschler asserted that "the needs under the expanded national defense program, as well as increased orders for engines for the Allies were the factors responsible for the decision" to build the new factory.

Production capacity of the Pratt & Whitney division which specializes in aircraft engines has been tripled in a little more than a year.

Pratt & Whitney's employment has risen from about 2700 workers to 8200 in the last 17 months.

Chief Deplores Army Blunders

CAMP BEAUREGARD, La., May 28 (AP)—In a critical review of the army's greatest peacetime maneuvers, Maj. Gen. H. J. Brees reported to assembled officers that had the concentration been on a larger scale similar to what might be expected by general mobilization, "they might have been bogged down."

Gen. Brees, commander of the Eighth Corps Area and chief maneuvers control officer, criticized senior officers and praised enlisted men in his far-reaching report to about 4000 fellow officers making ready to return to home stations.

"If results would not have been so tragic," he said, "some of the so-called attacks, without use of supporting weapons, were so absurd as to be farcical. In most cases the fault lies with our senior officers."

FAMILY CONTEST ENTRIES POUR IN

Competition is getting keen for the honor of being selected as the Typical American Family in Massachusetts with the free trip to the New York World's Fair of 1940 that goes with it.

Entries in this contest, sponsored by the Boston Evening American and Boston Sunday Advertiser, in cooperation with the World's Fair management, are coming in heavier each day.

There is still plenty of time, however, to have that family picture taken, write the letter of not more than 300 words describing the qualifications of the family and to fill in and submit the official entry form.

Remember—the first prize is an all expense-paid trip to the Fair for one week, without one cent of cost either for transportation, housing or meals.

FHA MODEL HOUSE

At the Fair, the Massachusetts family will live in one of the newly-built FHA houses, which has been completely furnished by Sears Roebuck & Co. And before leaving on the exciting trip, the family will be completely outfitted by Sears Roebuck.

The trip from Boston to New York, and return to Boston, will be made in a latest type Ford automobile, driven by a company chauffeur and with all meals free en route.

Where the Typical American Family in Massachusetts is living, nobody knows yet—and nobody will know until the judges make their selection, as soon as possible after the deadline for entries at midnight on Saturday, June 15.

OTHER PRIZES

Remember, too—in addition to the principal award to the winning family, there are four other World's Fair prizes for the next four families picked as runners-up:

Second prize: Free transportation: round trip, between Boston and New York via New Haven Railroad; free admission to the Fair for three days; free entertainment and guides—plus $40

Third prize: Free transportation via American Airlines; free admission for three days; free entertainment and guides—plus $30

Fourth prize: Free transportation, via Eastern Steamship Lines, cabin and meals free; free admission to the Fair for three days; free entertainment and guides plus $20

Fifth prize: Free transportation, via New Haven Railroad, between Boston and Providence, and Colonial Steamship Lines between Providence and New York, first cabin and meals; plus free admission for three days, free entertainment, free guides and $20 cash.

Here Are Family Contest Rules

These are the rules governing the Typical American Family in Massachusetts Contest:

1—The Typical American Family Competition, conducted by the Boston Sunday Advertiser and Boston Evening American, in co-operation with the New York World's Fair of 1940, is open only to citizens of the United States residing in Massachusetts.

2—The name and address of each family, with the number of children, boys and girls, must be submitted on the official entry form, together with a letter of not more than 300 words describing the family and explaining why it should be selected as the Typical American Family in Massachusetts. No photographs will be returned.

3—Entries will NOT be judged by the literary style or excellence of the letters submitted, but strictly on the qualifications and characteristics of the family.

4—A recent photograph or clear snapshot of the family must accompany the entry.

5—The entry of a candidate family may be submitted by a relative or friend, or by a member of the family.

6—Entries close on Saturday, June 15, at midnight. The completed form must be mailed or delivered to the Advertiser-American Typical American Family Editor, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston, Mass., before that time.

7—The selection of the Typical Family will be made by a committee of distinguished Massachusetts men and women well qualified to establish the requirements of a Typical American Family, and the committee's decision will be final.

8—The parents and two children of the Typical Family selected, the eldest child to be not over 18, will be transported from Boston to the New York World's Fair and back by automobile, with all meals and hotel expenses paid. They will be entertained at the Fair for one week, beginning July 22, without any cost whatever to themselves. The Family, while at the Fair, will live for one week in a completely furnished house built inside the Fair Grounds in accordance with the standards set up for home construction by the Federal Housing Administration. The house accommodates four persons, and for this reason only four members of the Family selected may go to the Fair. The Family will have complete freedom of action as to what they want to do and see. They will, in fact, live each day as they would during any normal holiday period.

9—It is understood that entrants give permission to publish photographs and stories of their Family.

10—This competition is not open to employes of the Boston Sunday Advertiser-Boston Evening American, nor of other publications or advertising media.

Legion Works For Hub Caucus

The forthcoming national convention of the American Legion, to be held in Boston the week of Sept. 22, has already started the greatest mobilization of information experts and volunteers ever assembled in Massachusetts, according to an announcement today.

Information experts for the railroads, Elevated, airlines, bus lines and others will be greatly augmented, as well as tourist information booths under the direction of Joseph Maddigan of the Massachusetts Development & Industrial Commission.

All of these, with chambers of commerce in Boston and other communities, are planning to co-operate and co-ordinate their information service with the 1940 National Convention Corp. of the Legion, at 8 Beacon st., which will furnish 400 volunteer Legion and Auxiliary members for information booths.

Italy Lauds Leopold, War Cries Increase

ROME, May 28 (INS)—"Complete approval" of King Leopold's surrender to Nazi Germany was voiced by an official Italian spokesman to the press today.

"We fully approve of Leopold's decision, which we consider profoundly realistic in view of the certainty of destruction of the remaining Belgian forces," he said.

"We feel unconditional admiration for the valor of Leopold and his army.

"It might be pointed out that while the Belgian government, largely responsible for this disaster, fled from the country, the king remained to fight with his troops."

ACTION DEMANDED

With greatest significance, Marshal Pietro Badoglio, former commander-in-chief of the Italian armed forces, chose Leopold's surrender as an occasion to send a message to Premier Mussolini affirming Italy's eagerness to achieve her "national aspirations."

In his civilian capacity as president of the National Research Council, Badoglio said:

"We are expecting complete and speedy fulfillment of our national aspirations.

"I assure you the contribution in faith and work of Italian scientists and technicians, who are awaiting your orders for glory of the King."

Simultaneously, new anti-Allied manifestos were placarded all over Rome, voicing demands for seizure of Dalmatia, Corsica, Malta, Nice Savoy and Tunis.

Italian public opinion shared the official view as regards Leopold's surrender, but the reaction was strongly tinged with sympathy ove the plight of the Belgian people.

KING IS PRAISED

It was generally felt that his capitulation would inevitably shorten the conflict. Amazement was expressed over the speed and magnitude of Hitler's Western Front operations.

Meanwhile, officials deprecated what they termed "irresponsible" rumors regarding Italy's course of action. Included in this category was an emphatically denied report that the Italo-French and Italo-Swiss frontiers had been closed.

Italian officials bitterly condemned Premier Paul Reynaud's accusations against King Leopold as "completely out of place."

"His insults to the King are especially unjustified in view of the sovereign's personal heroism," spokesmen said.

Informed quarters again predicted sensational changes in the French political set-up with Reynaud going out of office and a more "realistic government" placed in power following Leopold's example "when faced with similar circumstances."

News of the Belgian capitulation made a particularly profound impression upon this country because of the fact that King Leopold's sister, Princess Marie Jose, is the wife of Crown Prince Umberto of Italy.

AMERICANS TO SAIL

Italian officials declined comment, but it was generally felt that King Leopold's astonishing and entirely unexpected decision would inevitably produce an important and undelayed reaction as regards Italy's own participation in the conflict.

Well-informed Italian circles recently predicted sensational political developments in France, leading to rapprochment with Italy, if Allied setbacks on the war front continued.—Editor's note.

In Naples, huge crowds staged a demonstration of affection and sympathy for Princess Marie Jose, who has won a place in Italian hearts.

Meanwhile, with Italy's intervention in the war apparently brought closer, hotels at Genoa were packed with 1300 Americans waiting to board the U. S. liner Manhattan, which arrives during the day from Naples.

The American embassy, meantime declined to comment on the visit of Alexander Kirk, United States charge d'affaires at Berlin, who arrived here last night. The embassy would disclose neither his plans nor the purpose of the visit.

LEOPOLD ORDERS SURRENDER

suffered many casualties and many other Belgian soldiers undoubtedly had been taken prisoner.

Authorized French military sources called the Belgian king's order "personal treason, of which the king alone must support the total responsibility."

Belgian newspapermen in France echoed this charge.

"The king is dead!" they declared. "Long live Belgium!"

Cushioning the shock of his announcement, Reynaud declared that France was prepared to hold "on the new line which has just been established on the Somme and Aisne rivers and thence west to the Maginot Line."

The Premier said that King Leopold had decided to capitulate "in full battle" against the advice of his cabinet.

The cabinet, Reynaud said, had informed the French government of its desire to "raise a new army" to fight with the Allies, and had placed at the service of France all the resources which it still has available.

The radio speech in which Reynaud made his announcement was hastily arranged after an emergency meeting of the French cabinet, which lasted until the early hours of the morning.

He said that the French "faith in victory is still intact" and called upon the nation for a supreme effort.

Some hours before the premier's announcement, Premier Pierlot had announced, after a meeting with his refugee cabinet, that his government had decided to continue in the war on the side of the Allies. The premier said Belgium would triumph sooner or later and called upon all Belgians to remain confident of victory.

Reynaud followed that up today with the announcement that the Belgian government, in opposition to its King's orders, would continue to function and would "raise a new army."

He said the Belgian capitulation had failed to lower French and British hopes for victory against the German invaders.

Reynaud prefaced his announcement of the capitulation with the words:

"I must announce a grave event to the nation.

"The Belgian army," he said, "has just brusquely capitulated in the field on the order of its King."

The King, he asserted, had issued the order without consulting "the responsible government."

SUPPLIES VIA DUNKIRK

He explained that the three Allied armies fighting in Belgium were under the command of Gen. Georges Blanchard.

As the battle continued, he said, troops were sent supplies via Dunkirk.

The French premier spoke with extreme sarcasm when he referred to Leopold. He said the action of the King of the Belgians was "without precedent in history."

Prior to Reynaud's announcement French military commentators had been acclaiming the Belgian army as the "heroes" of the fighting in the north, where the Germans have been pressing a terrific battle.

HAD HELD FLANK

The Belgians have been holding the left flank of the Allied lines in Flanders and were reported to have played an important part in the fighting yesterday along the Lys river north of Menin.

The exact situation today in the north was obscure. The whereabouts of King Leopold was not disclosed.

CHURCHILL VOWS HARDER FIGHT

LONDON, May 28 (INS)—Cries of "shame" today greeted Prime Minister Winston Churchill's announcement in the House of Commons that King Leopold of Belgium had surrendered to Nazi Germany.

Belgian Chiefs Disown King

erous blow struck at the cause of the Allies."

Major Quisling is the Norwegian generally charged with being the leader of the Norse Fifth Column when Germany invaded that country. British newspapers immediately coined the word "quisling" to designate all traitors and fifth columnists.—Editor's note.

"Our anxiety," said the editorial, "is felt for the British Expeditionary Force and their French companions.

"More than half their bravery through these harrowing days has been reduced to naught by this act of desertion.

"They have not been defeated on the field, but still the penalty of defeat is to be exacted from them.

"That is the measure of the crime committed this day."

A Reuters (British) news agency dispatch from Paris quoted a French military spokesman as terming the capitulation to Germany a "treasonable act."

Here is what the French spokesman was quoted as saying:

"The treasonable act of King Leopold is all the more grave in view of the fact that it came at a time when the Allied armies were in a difficult though not a desperate situation."

On the other hand, Alfred Duff Cooper, minister of information, said in a broadcast:

"I don't think we should attempt at present to pass judgment on Belgium's capitulation, although the British Expeditionary Force is in grave danger as a result.

"We know that the Belgian army has been fighting very bravely against tremendous odds. The situation in which the B. E. F. consequently finds itself is one of extreme gravity.

"There should be no loss of complete confidence in our ability to achieve ultimate victory."

A crowd of refugees and other callers waited outside the Belgian embassy but the embassy door was closed. An official said:

"We cannot give out any information."

"WHY STOP?"

One Belgian war veteran wearing a medal and ribbons said tearfully:

"If the news is true I cannot understand it. Why have we stopped fighting?"

News of the Belgian capitulation came hard on the heels of blunt and frank word to the British people that the battle situation in Flanders had become one of "utmost gravity."

"The House will be aware," Churchill said, "that King Leopold yesterday sent a plenipotentiary to the German command asking suspension of fighting on the western front.

"The British and French governments instructed their generals immediately to disassociate themselves from this procedure and persevere in the operations in which they are now engaged.

CHEERS FOR BELGIANS

"However, the German command had agreed to the Belgian proposal and the Belgian army ceased to resist the enemy at 4 a. m. today.

"I have no intention of suggesting to the House," Churchill continued, "that we should attempt at this moment to pass judgment on the action of Leopold in his capacity as commander-in-chief of the Belgian army.

"The Belgian government has disassociated itself from his act (cheers) and declares itself Belgium's only legal government. It has formally announced it is resolved to continue the war on the side of the Allies, who came to the aid of Belgium at her urgent appeal.

"Whatever our feelings may be, we must remember the sense of brotherhood between peoples who have fallen under the power of the aggressor and those who still confront him, will play its part in better days than those through which we are now passing.

SITUATION GRAVE

"The situation of the Anglo-French armies now engaged in a most severe battle and beset on three sides and from the air is evidently extremely grave.

"Surrender of the Belgian army in this manner adds appreciably to their grievous peril. But our troops are in good heart and are fighting with utmost discipline." (Cheers)

Churchill said he hoped to be able to make a statement on the general position "when the result of the intense struggle now proceeding can be better known and measured."

"Nothing which may happen in this battle can in any way relieve us of our duty to defend the world cause to which we have bound ourselves, nor should it destroy confidence in our powers to make our way, as on former occasions in our history, through disaster and grief to ultimate defeat of our enemy.

"Meanwhile," he concluded, "the House must prepare itself for hard and heavy tidings."

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Dorgan Blasts Fifth Column

Warning against traitors who bore from within in America, and lashing the appointment of Bertrand Russell to Harvard, ex-Representative Thomas A. Dorgan, now legislative agent of the city of Boston, delivered the main speech before the Hyde Park Kiwanis Club today.

Dorgan said citizens of Britain now refer to members of the fifth column as quislings and say that the countries conquered by the Nazis so far have not fallen before military genius and power but before the treachery of "Maj Quisling and his quislings."

He insisted that Bertrand Russell revealed himself an indirect advance agent of anti-Ally sentiment in his classes at the University of California recently.

"He said then an Allied victory would be better than a Nazi one, but not much better," Dorgan said. "He wasn't even patriotic to his own nation. We have many in this nation who would act as an advance for the fifth column, the quislings, whom we should exterminate at the start."

Kennedy Girl Flies For U. S.

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—Rosemary Kennedy, 21, eldest daughter of United States Ambassador Joseph P. Kennedy, traveled by plane to Lisbon, Portugal, today to catch a transatlantic plane to return to the United States.

It was explained that she took the air route because of demand for space on the liner President Roosevelt, which is scheduled to reach Ireland Thursday to take Americans home.

All other members of the ambassador's family are in the United States. Rosemary had remained to continue her art studies.

At United States Lines offices inquirers were told the waiting list of Americans indicates that the number desiring to leave is greater than the capacity of the President Roosevelt.

To the question whether an additional ship might be sent, the officers replied that this seemed likely but that nothing could be announced.

Nazis to Keep Leopold as King—in Name

BERLIN, May 28 (AP)—Informed German sources said today that King Leopold III of the Belgians, whose army has surrendered to Germany on his order, would be permitted to continue functioning as king in some form or other if Germany is victorious in the war.

Hitler Order: 'Let S. S. Roosevelt Pass'

BERLIN, May 28 (INS)—The German admiralty today wireless sed strictest orders to all German warship commanders to allow the United States liner President Roosevelt, en route to Ireland to pick up American refugees, to pass unhindered on all stages of its journey.

The orders were sent out coincident with official announcement that Hitler had personally informed the United States embassy of reports that British agents planned to sink the liner as a subterfuge to involve the United States in war.

The Reich sent the following note to the United States embassy in reply to its formal note informing Germany of the scheduled departure of the liner:

"Ships engaged in trips of this manner announced by the United States note are not exposed to dangers by German naval units according to the principles of German naval warfare."

HITLER CLAIMS PLOT

An official statement said:

"The Fuehrer himself has informed the embassy of reports based on information in possession of the Reich government according to which governments at war with Germany are preparing a plot on the liner Roosevelt.

"In view of the fact that the enemies of Germany for obvious motives already twice have attempted to disturb German-American relations by plots on steamships with American passengers, the Reich government called attention of the United States to these reports.

NO NAZI UNITS THERE

"In view of the fact that this American vessel will pass the war zone, which otherwise is being avoided by American ships, the Reich government has instructed its forces with the strictest orders to the effect that this ship can carry out its trip without being hindered in any way.

"Moreover, there are no naval units on the route chosen by this steamer both ways. Any danger for an American ship therefore is excluded so far as Germany is concerned.

"The Reich government expressed the expectation that the American government, which itself has the greatest interest in the preservation of the lives of its citizens, will do everything to frustrate such criminal plans by appropriate measures in order to avoid disturbance of German-American relations."

try, has arrived at a decision to lay down arms, contrary to the wish of the majority of his government.

"This government, which is chiefly responsible for the catastrophe which befell Belgium, now also seems willing further to remain in the company of their English-French employers.

"The Fuehrer has ordered that the King of the Belgians and his army be accorded such consideration as due bravely fighting soldiers.

KING GETS CASTLE

"Since the King of the Belgians personally expressed no wish, a Belgian castle has been designated him for a temporary sojourn until a definite domicile is determined.

"The total number of Belgian units affected by the capitulation may roughly comprise half a million men.

"The German armies now will strike out with increased vigor at the destruction of the chief culprits."

The announcement said:

"Under the persuasion of the destructive effects of German arms, the King of the Belgians has arrived at the decision, in order to put an end to further senseless resistance, to request an armistice.

"He accepted the German demand of unconditional capitulation. Thus the Belgian army today downed arms and ceased to exist."

Authorized quarters ventured the opinion that the best thing for the Allies to do now would be to capitulate also if they want to avoid unnecessary bloodshed.

These quarters said the Allies made an air raid on Duesseldorf last night. No information was available immediately on the extent of the damage. The raid was described, however, as "nothing new."

"It happens practically every night" in the border region, a spokesman said.

ACTIVITY INTENSIFIED

The Belgian capitulation came as Germany intensified activity of her air force against the Allied forces trapped in Flanders. This was interpreted by the authoritative commentary Diplomatisch Aus Deutschland as being "an apparent effort by the high command to bring about a decision in the Flanders battle as soon as possible."

1 British, 3 Allied Ships Sunk by Foe

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—Authoritative circles today reported vessels sunk "by enemy action" in the week which ended May 19 included one British ship of 629 tons, three allied vessels totalling 29,552 tons and four neutral ships totalling 16,120 tons.

These circles said the German tanker Kattegat, 6,301 tons, and the steamer Rosario, 6,679 tons, had been sunk by the Norwegians, bringing Germany's total shipping losses up to May 19 to around 830,000 tons.

Wanted in Utica, N. Y., where he is under indictment for grand larceny, J. Jerome Graves, 53, a former bank cashier, was arrested in Brookline today and held in $2000 as a fugitive from justice.

He said he would waive extradition, but his case was continued pending investigation. According to police, he had been a trusted bank employe for 17years at the time he allegedly fled from Utica.

U. S. Stamp Plan Set for Brockton

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—Secretary Wallace announced today that the Agriculture Department's stamp plan for distributing surplus food products among the needy would be extended to Brockton, Mass., in about a month.

The secretary estimated approximately 13,300 persons on relief in the city would be eligible to participate in the program.

BULLETINS

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—A German radio announcement heard in London today said King Leopold III of the Belgians had been assigned a Belgian castle to stay in following his order to his army to capitulate to Germany.

PARIS, May 28 (AP)—French and British troops in the north are continuing to fight after the capitulation of the Belgians, the high command announced today.

TAX INCREASE LOOMS TO PAY 3 BILLION U. S. DEFENSE BILL

WASHINGTON, May 28 (AP)—The demands of national defense were brought home today to the country's citizens by talk of an immediate tax increase and hints of no new model automobiles after this year.

Both Houses of Congress manifested a growing sentiment for consideration of new taxation before adjournment, to help pay at least part of the $3,000,000,000 preparedness bill.

There were signs that any new levies probably would be coupled with an increase in the national debt limit to permit further borrowing.

Tax discussions were bracketed with an official announcement that served to dramatize the proportions of the rearmament job ahead. Secretary Morgenthau indicated that defense needs might make it necessary for the auto industry to abandon its policy of introducing the usual crop of new models next year.

DEFENSE PREPARATIONS

Other events on the defense front yesterday included:

1—President Roosevelt asked Congress for an additional $32,000,000 for the training of civilian pilots. The appropriation would cover instruction of varying types for an estimated 104,000 air students.

2—The White House indicated that Mr. Roosevelt soon would make known his plans for the creation of a national defense council to co-ordinate and speed up the program.

3—Former President Hoover, in a speech at New York, urged the appointment of a "single-headed administrator" with virtually supreme powers in defense matters. Thomas E. Dewey, a contender for the Republican Presidential nomination, recommended a non-partisan board for the task.

4—The House Naval Appropriations Subcommittee, holding a secret hearing which lasted far into the night, worked on legislation which would give the Navy the $250,000,000 in extra money recommended in the President's recent defense message.

RIGHT-ABOUT-FACE

The defense tax movement represented an about-face from the original attitude of Congress. In the beginning lawmakers shied at the thought of new imposts in an election year, and an added argument was that a tax bill might ruin plans to adjourn in ample time for the forthcoming national conventions.

Party leaders in both Capitol wings were sampling sentiment on the willingness of Congress to unite behind a quickly enactable bill to raise defense revenues.

PAINFUL PILES

Relieve the Pain and Itching Almost Instantly

Simple Piles can hurt excruciatingly. They can itch maddeningly. Tormenting you day and night, they can almost drive you mad.

To relieve pain and itching of simple Piles just apply amazing Pazo Ointment. Pazo does a real job. It almost instantly allays the pain and itching. It brings quick relief and enables you to walk and sleep in comfort.

Pazo works because it is three fold in effect. Here is what it does. First, it soothes the sore and inflamed parts. That relieves the pain and itching. Second, it lubricates the affected parts. That softens the hardened and dried parts and helps prevent cracking and soreness. Third, it has an astringent action that tends to reduce the swollen parts and, in many cases, check bleeding.

Pazo is neatly and thoroughly applied with small, perforated tube

Try Pazo and see the grand results you get. Note the relief from the maddening pain and itching. If Pazo does not give satisfactory relief, see a doctor as your condition may be such as to require a physician's services.

Get Pazo Ointment at any drugstore at small cost. (It also comes in suppository form for those who prefer.)

Headaches—Dizziness Symptoms Associated with

HIGH BLOOD PRESSURE

OFTEN RELIEVED WITH ODORLESS GARLIC

IF TAKEN CONTINUOUSLY AT PRESCRIBED INTERVALS

For many years, garlic has been an important part of the dietary treatment used in lowering High Blood Pressure by various physicians throughout the entire world. Many women suffering from dizziness, splitting headaches, heart and chest pains, sleeplessness, and other symptoms generally associated with High Blood Pressure have, in some cases, experienced soothing relief, if garlic was taken continuously at prescribed intervals.

If you suffer from High Blood Pressure and would like to try the simple garlic method, but dislike the taste and odor of garlic, here is good news for you. Recently, a process was invented by which fresh garden garlic is concentrated into tiny, odorless tablets, which are coated with a delicious sweet chocolate. These tiny, easy-to-take tablets, called G.P.L. TABLETS, may be taken whenever needed without offense of distaste to yourself or others.

G.P.L. TABLETS are sold with but one purpose and that is to give High Blood Pressure sufferers wholesome garlic in a delicious chocolate coated tablet free from objectionable taste or odor. Take advantage of our MONEY BACK GUARANTEE offer. TEAR OUT THIS NOTICE — present it with only 59c (5 pkgs. $1.25) at your nearest Nature Food Centres store for your G.P.L. TABLETS. Use the entire package and if you do not notice gratifying results, bring back the empty package and get your money back in full. G.P.L. TABLETS are sold only at

Flight at Boulogne Told by Eyewitness

LONDON, May 28 (AP)—An epic story of the removal of British troops from Boulogne by the royal navy, with German bombs and guns causing severe casualties, was disclosed today in a report by a naval eyewitness.

He said the forces were withdrawn from the seaport by British destroyers under a constant hail of bombs and fire from field guns, machine guns and pompoms (multi-barrel anti-aircraft guns).

Boulogne fell to the Germans Sunday.

The eyewitness said the Germans in "greatly superior" numbers attacked with aircraft, tanks, and field guns and the destroyers removed the soldiers "in circumstances of great difficulty and peril."

SHELLING THE ENEMY

A naval officer, he said it was impossible to describe the events in chronological order because "we had no time to look at our watches" and censorship prevented disclosure of the day of the withdrawal.

A demolition party of seamen, royal marines and a few royal engineers, taking explosives and other gear, pushed across the channel in a destroyer at two hours' notice, breaching the main jetty of Boulogne in the former.

On the way into the harbor, the party saw British and French destroyers "shelling high land to the north over which enemy tanks and mechanized troops were advancing toward the town."

Inside the harbor, "there was comparative peace, but not for long," the officer reported.

The party landed from the destroyer, occupied the railway station, fitted demolition charges and earmarked all bridges, cranes and lock gates for destruction, which was undertaken, it was said, at the request of the French authorities.

BRAVE UNDER FIRE

Troops in the station were bombarded by high explosive shells from field guns. Many of them were young, but the naval officer said "they never turned a hair."

"The Germans were gradually closing in on the town with light mechanized vehicles, followed by tanks and motorized field guns," the officers said, adding that German planes also attacked intermittently throughout the day."

Once, he said, a greatly superior number of plans were driven off by RAF fighters.

Because the Germans were "all around the town," it was "impossible to send fild guns or other assistance," the officer reported and the British "couldn't hold out indefinitely against enemy armored vehicles."

The officer found all roads barricaded with lorries and protected by machine-guns.

TELLS OF CASUALTIES

"Small parties of Germans were already coming down the streets on the outskirts of the town," he said, "and a slight British withdrawal was ordered to avoid having our flank being turned and to accelerate the evacuation when the time came."

The Germans were holding the high ground commanding the town massing more guns and troops, he went on, and the British "sustained casualties."

Small naval parties set explosives under bridges giving access to the inner harbor. The bridges were already under machinegun fire at a few hundred yards range, the officer said, but the British could not destroy them until the last troops had been withdrawn.

The naval officer and a small party of men under sniping fire at 50 yards range destroyed a crane and flooded the dock power station and pumping station.

One small drifter found at another dock was manned by stokers, who raised steam with broken wood and other debris so that the craft could aid in the evacuation of troops.

PLANES STRAFE TROOPS

When the "complete demolition" order came, the floating dock was sunk and the machinery in the power station was "doing up the everything that might be of use to the enemy" was hurriedly salved and under continuous fierce gun and machine gun fire and while the German planes made low-level and machine gun attacks.

"The Germans were very close and coming nearer all the time," the naval officer said, "while British troops were taking shelter at the railway station and more arriving every minute."

Five destroyers came alongside and began evacuation of the troops under "furious" fire from enemy guns concealed in a wooded hill and from pompoms and machine guns firing from the windows of a hotel.

"Then several enemy tanks came down the hill onto the foreshore," the report stated.

The troops on the jetty were embarging "under a tornado of fire, with casualties occurring every second," and destroyers were "plastering the hillsides and the German field guns at pointblank range and blasting the hotel until the pompoms and machine guns were silenced."

HEARST RIFLE SHOOT DRAWS RECORD ENTRY

NEW YORK, May 28—A greater number of teams than ever before, in the 20 consecutive years since its establishment, participated in the 1940 National R. O. T. C. rifle competition for the William Randolph Hearst trophies.

Representative teams from 90 R. O. T. C. units on the mainland of the United States and also the territory of Hawaii, 697 different groups competed.

Universities and colleges, military schools, and high schools throughout the nation were represented with a manifestation of interest even keener than that in the previous year.

As for the navy, every one of the R. O. T. C. units existing in that branch of the service participated in the matches.

The William Randolph Hearst trophies are now being presented at scholastic ceremonies from Maine to California.

Of the three classifications participating in the shoot- First: Senior units comprising universities and colleges, second: Essentially military schools; and third: High schools—the junior or high school units in the 1940 competition proved to be the best shots of all. The Ashland senior high school team No. 2, of Ashland, Kentucky, achieved a team score of 984.

OLD VAUDEVILLE STARS IN FILM COMING TO MEMORIAL

'If I Had My Way' Stars Bing Crosby, Gloria Jean

It will be old-home week at Keith-Memorial Theater for vaudeville diehards, starting Thursday, when Universal's Gloria Jean-Bing Crosby starring picture, "If I Had My Way," will restore five famous personages of old-time vaudeville to the entertainment world.

The five are Eddie Leonard, Blanche Ring, Trixie Friganza, Grace LaRue and Julian Eltinge. Leonard and Miss Ring sing the specialty numbers which made them famous on the vaudeville stage—"Ida" and "Rings on My Fingers," respectively. Both have been absent from the stage for a number of years.

The picture centers around Bing and El Brendel, the Swedish dialectitian, who "adopt" Gloria when her father is killed in an accident. The trio ultimately find themselves in possession of a cafe in which Bing and 12-year-old Gloria furnish the entertainment, aided by the five famous ex-vaudevillians.

Crosby and his youngest co-star, who thus starred in her first picture, "The Under-Pup," duet in the following song numbers: "Meet the Sun Half Way," "I Haven't Time To Be a Millionaire," and "Pessimistic Character." Bing solos with "If I Had My Way" and Gloria Jean with "Little Gray Home in the West." "April Played the Fiddle," is offered by Bing and the Six Hits and a Miss.

Charles Winniger, like Brendel another well-known ex-vaudevillian who has been continuously before the public through the medium of motion picture, has a featured role.

David Butler is the producer-director of the picture, an original by William Conselman, David Butler and James V. Kern.

"Girl In Room 313," will Florence Rice, Kent Taylor and Lionel Atwill be the companion feature.

Pinch-Hitting for Louella O. Parsons, Who Is on Vacation.

HOLLYWOOD, May 28—Rita Hayworth's home lot, Columbia, is finally realizing with a vengeance what a tremendous bet they have in this dark-eyed, curvacious youngster.

Just got the tip that Rita will be co-starred with Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., in the Ben Hecht picture "Until I Die" which Hecht will produce and young Doug will co-direct.

Rita is currently playing opposite Brian Aherne in "Gribouille."

Even the war news hasn't been able to drown out the sound of wedding bells these past few days. Last Friday night Chester Halchester, one of Hollywood's most popular florists, was married to Mary Davis and headed for an Arrowhead Springs honeymoon.

Early Sunday morning Hal Roach, Jr., and Mrs. Dolly Hunt planed to Yuma (Ariz.) and took their vows. And yesterday L. O. P.'s favorite enemy, Benny Rubin, called to say that he had just purchased a diamond and sapphire wedding ring for Beatrice Dollinger, socialite model and will wed her this Friday.

Georgia Sothern in Howard's 11:30 Show

Burlesque's red-headed oomph-girl, Georgia Sothern, now headlining in the current "Puss Puss" stage revue, will be the spotlighted attraction at tomorrow night's special midnight show ushering in the holiday.

Other prettie in the cast will be Jean Mode and Ginger Waldron, with dance routines that are as novel as they are skilled, and Sahji, the orchidaceous octaroon, who is a Boston favorite. The show starts at 11:30 and will be laced with the comedy of Pat Paige, James X. Francis and others.

Pops Program

Yaes Chardon will conduct the Pop concert in Symphony Hall tonight, and the Longy School will be especially represented. The soloist will be E. Power Biggs, celebrated organist. The program follows:

RKO Radio's Program Includes 53 Features

NEW YORK, May 28—Broadway's outstanding musical and dramatic stage hits, the season's most discussed best-selling novels and original stories by the literary world's most famous authors head the list of 53 features RKO Radio will bring to the screen the coming season.

Ned E. Depinet, vice-president in charge of world distribution, made this announcement yesterday before the company's ninth annual sales convention at the Waldorf-Astoria.

Included in the 190 short subjects to be released during the 1940-41 season will be Walt Disney productions introducing several new and arresting characters.

Attractions already in preparation for the new season are:

"Kitty Foyle," the Christopher Morley best seller, to star Ginger Rogers, who will also star in "Two on an Island," Elmer Rice's latest Broadway play and "Tom, Dick and Harry," a screen original.

"The Other Man," Sidney Howard's Pulitzer Prize Play, to co-star Carole Lombard and Charles Laughton. "Not Quite a Gentleman" will be another Laughton vehicle. "Mr. and Mrs. Smith" will star Miss Lombard.

Orson Welles, Ronald Colman, Jean Arthur and Cary Grant will each star in at least one production; Welles in "John Citizen, U. S. A.," Colman in an untitled vehicle, Miss Arthur in "The Devil and Miss Jones," Grant in "Passport to Life." Charles Boyer will star in "Arsene Pretends" and another picture.

Broadway musicals include "Too Many Girls," George Abbott's screen version of his Broadway success with an all-star cast, "No, No, Nanette," with Vincent Youmans's music and "Sunny," the Dillingham successes with a Jerome Kern score, both Herbert Wilcox productions, will star Anna Neagle, whose current hit is "Irene."

Special musicals include "They Met in Argentina," produced by Lou Brock, who made the famous "Flying Down to Rio," with Maureen O'Hara, Gene Raymond, Alberto Vila, and a second feature with Ray Enright and his band produced by David Butler.

Harold Lloyd's initial production, "Three Girls and a Gob," will star Maureen O'Hara.

Novelty attractions are "How to Meet a Man," created by the production genius of Gene Towne and Graham Baker, and "The Villain Still Pursued Her," a laugh-o-drama produced by Harold Franklin.

Of front page interest is "The Ramparts We Watch," inspired by the book by George Fielding Eliot and produced by March of Time as its first feature film.

Radio successes being filmed include Lum and Abner in "Dreaming Out Loud," and Li'l Abner," a feature film based upon the Al Capp comic strip character which is also a radio hit, and "Scattergood Baines," Clarence Budington Kelland's genial character who will be a star figure in three features. A radio success continued for three features is Jean Hersholt's "Dr. Christian" series. Leslie Charteris' famous "Saint" series will also be continued for three pictures.

Favorite books to be filmed include "Sister Carrie," by Theodore Dreiser; "Little Men," by Louisa May Alcott; "Anne's House of Dreams," by L. M. Montgomery; "Valley of the Sun," by Clarence Budington Kelland; "Freckles" and "Laddie," by Gene Stratton-Porter.

Feature comedies include "Lord Epping Entertains" and "Lord Epping Out West," starring Leon Errol and Lupe Velez; and "Show Business," teaming Alan Mowbray and Donald MacBride, who will also pair in another of their popular Broadway producer characterizations.

HORACE HEIDT who brings his Musical Knights and stars of his "Pot O' Gold" radio show to the RKO-Boston stage on Thursday for a week.

Heidt Coming to RKO Boston

Horace Heidt, his Musical Knights and all the stars of the "Pot O' Gold" radio show inaugurate a week's engagement at the RKO Boston on Thursday, Memorial Day. On the screen will be shown RKO Radio's "The Saint Takes Over," a first run attraction co-starring George Sanders and Wendy Barrie.

Twenty-two states and the territory of Alaska are represented in Heidt's all American aggregation which offers excellent entertainment as well as top dance music. Larry Cotton, tenor soloist, is familiar to "Pot O' Gold" fans, as are other popular members of the outfit including the Four Le Ahn Sisters, rhythm foursome, Fred Lowery, whistling whiz; Frankie Carle, pianist-composer and writer of "Sunrise Serenade" and "A Lover's Lullabye"; Henry Russell, singing with his Novachord music; Bobby Hackett, today's Big Biederbecke of the trumpet; Red Ferrington, with the infectious laugh; Art Carney, mimicomic; Bernie Mattinson the pitterbug' pet drummer; Ruth Davies, soprano and Jean Farney, another favorite songstress.

As an added feature, the all star band that gave America sweetest swing will present its famed radio treasure program from the stage at every performance with cash awards for the winners, a feature of the Heidt air show for the past three years.

"The Saint Takes Over," based on Leslie Charteris' popular novel, is concerned with the Saint's efforts to bring to justice a New York gang of racetrack crooks.

Ann Sheridan Film Comes to Bowdoin

In "Warners' "It All Came True," which comes to the Bowdoin screen tomorrow, Ann Sheridan proves that she doesn't have to count on her oomph-girl title. Appearing with her are Humphrey Bogart, Jeffrey Lynn, Zasu Pitts, Una O'Connor and John Litel.

TWO KINGS OF BELGIUM: WAR MAKES WORLD HERO OF FATHER, BUT ALLIED SCAPEGOAT OF SON

By JAMES DOOLING

In a single phrase, Premier Reynaud of France today swept from a hero's niche the idol of the Belgian people, tore the badge of courage from the breast of 38-year-old Leopold III, King of the Belgians.

Bitterly the French premier told the world that the Allies could no longer count on Belgium's army. It had capitulated in the field "on order of its King."

Harsh judgment this was, pronounced in the heat of battle, at a moment that many counted as the most critical thus far in the uneven struggle between the Nazi war machine and man power of the Allied armies.

Whether, when history is written, young Leopold III, King of the Belgians, will be assigned the part to which Reynaud condemned him is one of those questions that time must eventually answer. Time alone.

LEOPOLD AS A BOY
World War Heritage

HIS HEROIC SIRE

Eighteen days ago Leopold had taken up the sword that his father, the gallant Albert I, sheathed in final triumph after the Belgium of 1914-18 had been overrun by a horde of German invaders, its pitifully weak armies decimated, but fighting always, its beautiful cities and once peaceful countrysides ugly scars of shell-ploughed ruin.

Eighteen days ago Leopold called upon the defenders of the forts of Liege to "resist to the utmost for the fatherland."

"I am proud of you," he told them.

And today the Belgian army had capitulated in the field "on orders of its King."

Leopold, dispatches from Paris said, had retired to a castle in Belgium far from the western front where the battles raged—battles now waged by French and British alone against Hitler's legions and machines.

What prompted the surrender?

LOVER OF PEACE

Few were inclined to brand Leopold with the epithets the French applied today. Many recalled that Leopold had been from the beginning a lover of peace. They recalled his words of last November:

"Is our continent going to commit suicide in a frightful war which would know neither conqueror nor conquered, in which spiritual and material values created by the centuries of civilization would founder?"

But few could resist contrasting the Leopold III of 1940 with the Albert I of 1914.

When the German armies marched into Belgium on Aug. 6, 1914, Albert, then only 39, seven months older than Leopold is today, sped to the front to command the armies of his country.

LATE ALBERT, KING OF THE BELGIANS
Heroic Conduct in First War Recalled

Inspired by his heroic leadership, the Belgians fought so valiantly at Liege, Namur, Antwerp, that the Kaiser was speedily disillusioned of his belief the little country would be swept out of the advancing invaders' path as a child sweeps away toy soldiers.

FIGHTER'S LIFE

All through the World War I, Albert was the leader of his troops.

With the humblest private in the Belgian ranks he shared the hardships of the battle field, faced the same dangers.

On three different occasions the young King Albert escaped death from shellfire by the narrowest wisp as he flew over German trenches.

Once, riding close to the front lines, moving from one headquarters to another, he was so close when a German shell burst that it ripped a wheel from the automobile and buried the car on its side, a wreck.

At another time, in 1915, a treacherous royal chauffeur attempted to drive the King into the German lines. It was a well-laid plot with the price of treachery some $200,000. But the personal courage of the King himself frustrated it. The price of treachery for the chauffeur was death before a firing squad.

KING WORLD HERO

Through the four long years and three months that the war lasted Albert I was the inspiration of his armies, the most admired of all the Allied leaders.

He emerged from the dreadful carnage and fearful ruin of that war as the hero of the world.

And the world rejoiced with him as he led back to Brussels in triumph the remnants of the army of the Belgians when the Armistice was finally declared on Nov. 11, 1918.

The place of Albert I in history was forever secure.

When Albert's untimely death in a plunge from a cliff near Namur while at his favorite sport of mountain-climbing, brought to the throne the Leopold III of today, the world sorrowed at the gallant Albert's passing. But it rejoiced again—that the son of this hero was ascending the throne.

HELPED DIG IN

Leopold was only 13 years old when his father took up the sword to do battle with the invader, but Leopold, a prince and therefore a leader of his people, donned a uniform. The uniform of a private soldier.

During the first seven days of Belgium's almost hopeless struggle against overwhelming German forces, when Belgium was alone, awaiting aid from France and England, the boy-prince dug trenches, fought by the side of peasant and professional soldier alike.

He spent two years at the front with the army, finally being mustered out of service in 1916 to take up the education he needed to fit him for succession to the throne.

It may have been back there, a quarter of a century ago, that the young Leopold first felt the hatred for war that later characterized his actions. The secret of that is locked in his heart. But, unquestionably, as time went on that hatred grew.

REGAL TRAINING

Commentators have said only recently that Leopold was "too much of the gentleman" to survive the savage age to which the European world has apparently reverted.

Yet there is no question but that he had sought to train himself for the tasks of his kingdom. There is no question but that he embarked on a career of military training with the same enthusiasm that marked his study of economics, history, languages. By the age of 31 he was a colonel in the Belgian army.

TRUSTED HITLER

Even four years ago when German armies massed on the Belgian border, Leopold raced to take personal charge of the troops he ordered mobilized to meet the threat.

But as time wore on and the Nazi menace loomed larger and larger the young King of the Belgians become more and more inclined to evade the threat rather than meet it.

Sensing that the Nazi clash with France was inevitable, Leopold gave his first indication of his new program last year by declaring Belgium would maintain strict neutrality.

Many of the French viewed this as desertion and declared that Leopold was placing reliance upon the assurance of the German dictator whose word could not be trusted How true that prediction was became obvious after a few months.

In August, before the French and British formally declared war on Germany, Leopold, still maintaining that Belgium must remain neutral, broadcast his first plea for a peaceful settlement of the differences between the powers.

SAFE FOR HITLER!

It was then that he made the prophecy of world disaster in case of war.

Again in November, two months after the hostilities had become general, Leopold joined with Queen Wilhelmina of Holland in voicing another plea for peace.

Again many persons saw in the plea the hand of Hitler directing the young Belgian monarch and falsely assuring both the queen and him that their countries would be safe.

What Hitler apparently meant, it is ironically remarked today, was that Holland and Belgium would be "safe" under the "protection" of Nazi Germany — as Czechoslovakia is "safe," as Denmark, Norway, Poland are "safe."

KING'S PRIDE

Whatever motive prompted Leopold to lead his troops to battle 18 days ago, to encourage them on to fight the fearful odds that confronted them, that motive had been replaced today by another, a mysterious motive that the world sought in vain to sound.

Taking command of his armies 26 years ago, Leopold's father, Albert I, told his Belgians:

"A neighbor, haughty in his strength, has torn up a treaty bearing his signature and has violated the land of our fathers because we refused to violate our honor."

Refused to violate our honor.

"He has attacked us. Seeing its independence threatened, the nation trembled, its children sprang to the frontier, valiant soldiers in a sacred cause . . .

Its independence threatened.

"I have confidence in your tenacious courage. I greet you in the name of Belgium, as a fellow-citizen, who is proud of you . . ."

Confidence in your tenacious courage.

The closing words of heroic King Albert's message to his soldiery ironically foreshadowed the closing words that Leopold addressed to the beleaguered Liege defenders a fortnight ago —"Proud of you."

On this day a bewildered world wondered if Belgium were, as well, proud of Leopold III, yesterday King of the Belgians and commander-in-chief of its armed forces.

ALBERT PAID

Leopold's driving desire for peace was no stronger than that which animated his warrior-father, history reminded. Albert knew Kaiser Wilhelm well, foresaw that his country might be the key to the door opening to French soil, foresaw the ruin that war would bring to the little nation. He had locked in his archives a treaty guaranteeing the integrity of his country.

The price of peace—the peace that Albert desired ardently to preserve for his people was permission for the German army to march through Belgium

A bitter decision had to be made. Albert made it. He refused that permission.

Perhaps it was that Leopold, too, thought long and carefully before making the bitter decision he made today.

WHAT KING SAW

Perhaps he envisaged millions of the aged, of women, young and old, of children and babies, innocent victims of the slaughter that comes in the wake of blitzkrieg.

Perhaps he saw in the past 36 hours so much Belgian blood flow that his heart sickened within him

For all this time, cables report massed German forces had concentrated on the northern extremity of the battle-front were pressed French and British troops, battling against annihilation, could only remark the significant fact that the Belgians were withdrawn without notification to their Allies. That, at least, is the claim the Allied army leaders and Premier Reynaud made today.

occupied by the Belgian army under the leadership of Leopold.

Perhaps all these things drove him to his decision

But whatever prompted the king to order capitulation, the

KING IN BOSTON

Neither Leopold nor his late father were strangers to the United States and for that reason the tragic drama enacted in the past few hours comes closer to home.

Boston saw both King Albert and his son on Oct. 5, 1919, when Albert came here to receive an honorary degree from Harvard University.

Albert was given the degree of Doctor of Laws, the fifth such person to be so honored, up to that time, with such a degree on any but Commencement Day. President A. Lawrence Lowell gave the Belgian Monarch the accolade

"Aye, every inch a king," the Harvard parchment read, quoting from Shakespeare

And President Lowell said in making the presentation

PRINCE'S GIRLS

"These members . . . have assembled to testify their respect for what Your Majesty and the Queen have done, and their sympathy for what your people have suffered; to express their admiration for the proud refusal to permit the tyrant to march through the land . . ."

Prince Leopold was a member of the royal Belgian party that day at Harvard. A yel-

THE PRESIDENT'S defense program was anything but pleasing to most of the young people who attended the recent "Youth's Day in Court," sponsored by the Massachusetts Youth Council.

Crying "youth wants jobs not guns," the delegates resolved that $500,000,000 should be spent on a civilian public works program instead of for armaments.

Obviously this group, the majority of which cannot remember the last war, are deplorably misinformed.

Most Americans who are supporting legislation for adequate national defense have no intention of placing rifles in their sons' hands and sending them "Over There" to rest forever under rented little white crosses.

On the contrary, this slaughter of youth is exactly the thing that rearmament supporters are hoping to prevent.

Young people ought to have jobs. The fact that millions of them have been unemployed since leaving school is a principal calamity of the current crisis.

But helping young Mr. and Miss America to earn a self-respecting living does not mean that we have to abandon our Army, Navy and Air Force and allow the United States to become the weakest big country in the world.

We know what has happened in recent months in defenseless countries which tolerated Communism, Fascism and sundry brands of radicalism.

We want no comparable experience here in America, neither for ourselves nor for gullible young people who seem to think that weakness and strength are synonymous.

GOOD NEWS comes in the form of an announcement from the office of Mr. Frank A. Goodwin, Massachusetts Registrar of Motor Vehicles.

"In recent years," says Mr. Goodwin, "automobile deaths have been very few in this State during the third week of May.

"Six for the week just past is again a very low figure, especially when we consider that we now have 35,000 more cars on the highways than we had last year at this time."

We agree with the Registrar. Our record does show an improvement.

However, is it as good as it ought to be?

Certainly no statistical tabulation can be considered ideal so long as it contains even one death.

What we should strive to achieve, particularly during this holiday week, is a period of seven days WITHOUT A SINGLE FATAL ACCIDENT.

EVEN BEFORE THE RACE is run, the annual Memorial Day 500-mile automobile race has claimed its first victim.

Flaming death recently overtook 38-year-old George Bailey when his car, traveling at 128.5 miles an hour in a speed trial, crashed through the fence of the Indianapolis track.

Last year, Floyd Roberts died horribly within a few feet of the same spot.

In all, 37 men have been similarly crushed or burned to death in or preparing for the holiday of death.

A year ago, after the Floyd Roberts tragedy, the Hearst newspapers questioned the veteran racing driver, Barney Oldfield, regarding any real or valuable contributions to automotive science or engineering accruing from the Indianapolis or other races, and he said:

"The only purpose served by reckless, man-killing auto races is to satisfy the morbid curiosity of the public.

"From the standpoint of progress, such tragedy-clouded events are futile.

"The big automobile companies have their own proving grounds and laboratories. All their problems are worked out professionally and scientifically and safely."

HURLED OFF COURSE TO DEATH!
Will Public Opinion End This Brutality?

Since it is neither in the interest of sport nor of science that this annual moron holiday is staged, it must be in the interest of satisfying the instincts of brutality and barbarianism that are still too close to the surface of our modern lives.

Some day American public opinion will condemn this sadistic enterprise as it so richly deserves to be condemned.

IT WAS Eduard Benes who said: "The peace Hitler provides is the peace of the cemetery" . . . If you wear a blue polka dot dress, young lady, it will put boss or boy friend in an agreeable frame of mind. That's what an expert on colors says. And if you feel blue, says he, wear a red hat . . . That tall, husky females have an appeal to many males cannot be denied when one considers the success of Billy Watson's beef trust burlesque show in which there was not a chorus girl under six feet and none weighing less than two hundred pounds.

HERE'S WHAT Tennyson said of Napoleon:

He thought to quell the stubborn hearts of oak,
Madman! To chain with chains, and bind with binds
The island queen who sways with the flood and lands,
We taught him lowlier moods.

Will A. Hitler ever be taught "lowlier moods?" . . . Now it has been told there are on the average man's face 25,000 whiskers which grow one hundredth of an inch in twenty-four hours. What is the percentage of men who still shave with straight razors? Have you ever had a barber shave you with a straight razor on a railroad train going seventy miles an hour? I have. I didn't enjoy it.

NOW I ASK YOU doesn't artificial blonde hair make a middle aged woman look older? Isn't corn beef hash better without a poached egg? Is there such a thing as a "runless" stocking for women? Doesn't the second wife of a man who was happily married to his first wife usually have a difficult time? Aren't you getting a little tired of the affected, folksy-wolksy friendliness of radio announcers especially those who gush at the finish: "Thanks for listenin', folks?"

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

-:- -:- MY DAY

NEW YORK CITY, May 28—I must finish telling about my day in Wheeling, West Virginia.

The Coal Area Council gave us a tea soon after we reached the hotel. Then I had a visit with the Junior League group, which is running a small settlement house where they are trying to interest unemployed boys in a program of recreation and, through that making an attempt to find them jobs.

Later a group of Democratic women called and a little girl came as a delegate from her school to get an autograph book signed.

Finally, I went to my lecture. While there, poor Mrs. Morgenthau was told that no one could find the copy of my column, so she spent a harrowing evening trying to locate it.

The loss was partly my own fault and partly that of the messenger boy, who evidently decided that the word "press" on the copy meant that it had to be taken to a newspaper, instead of meaning the rate at which it was to be sent.

I had not explained carefully enough that it had to go to the telegraph office. Some day, perhaps, I shall learn all the different ways in which one may lose a column.

We took the night train to Washington. Saturday was largely spent catching up on mail, although I drove out to Mrs. William Corcoran Eustis' place, Oaklands, in the afternoon to meet some of her neighbors, teachers, social workers and others.

THEY WERE a most interesting group. I enjoyed being with them and having them ask me certain questions which I did not always feel adequately prepared to answer.

I have not been in Mrs. Eustis' garden since 1918, and it is now one of the most beautiful formal gardens I have every seen. Great bushes of box make it fragrant and I do not wonder that Mrs. Eustis is proud of what she has achieved in the way of grace and beauty.

Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Gould and their young daughter were with us for the night, and also Mr. and Mrs. Rundle Gilbert with their small son. With Diana Hopkins this makes three children in the house and it is nice to hear their voices.

Sunday was a fairly busy day and in the late afternoon I flew up to New York City to go to a meeting of the New York City Council of the American Youth Congress.

I have said little or nothing the past few days about European news. When in Washington there is little else that one can think about, but one tries to avoid it as a topic of conversation.

Since the President was preparing his speech last week-end, everyone in the house was keenly aware not only of the aspects of the European situation, but of its implications for each and every one of us.

DURANTE OMITS F. D. R. SATIRE

NEW YORK, May 28—Jimmy Durante's "Life With Father" satire on the Roosevelt family has been eliminated from the new show, "Keep Off the Grass" . . . Happy Malone, first of the Murder, Inc., gang to be convicted of murder, told his keepers that he holds no grievances against the witnesses who testified against him except for Reles. "Just leave Reles in a room with me alone for ten minutes," Malone pleaded, "and I'd be satisfied to go to the chair immediately."

DR. OTTO FREMINGER, instructor in the drama department at Yale University, conducted the final examinations of his class at New Haven last week. He called upon one pupil, Miss Soans, and startled her by asking, "What is a critic?" . . . The girl thought that Preminger had said "Cricket" and began her answer: "It is an insect that" . . . "Just a moment," the instructor interrupted, "I said 'Critic,' not 'Cricket'" . . . "The answer still goes," Miss Soans persisted . . . Preminger, mindful of the complimentary notices he had received for his performance and direction in Clare Boothe's "Margin for Error," corrected the student. "It does not still go."

LAURENCE OLIVIER, who now is portraying "Romeo," one of the greatest lovers in story books, wasn't as believable during his one opportunity to play a love scene with Greta Garbo, as in "Queen Christina." When he placed his arms around her she stepped away and moaned: "Awwwnnn nawwwh," and couldn't continue . . . The director suggested that Olivier become better acquainted with Garbo before embracing her. And so he talked to Greta about places they both had visited; for hours he rhapsodized about the fjords of Norway, the sunsets in Sweden and the Bois de Boulogne. But John Gilbert replaced Olivier in that movie, for the only reaction of Garbo's had been a weary sigh: "Life is sotch a fonny theeng."

EXCLUSIVE: DEMOTIONS and promotions, combinations and exchanges of a large number of employes in the state banking department will occur June 1 . . . That, at least, is the tentative date of the long-waited shakeup of the department by Bank Commissioner Joseph Perry . . . Of approximately 135 employes, more than a third are involved . . . The Commish may be ready to announce his plans . . . or he may be vexed by this "leak" and set back the date of "re-organization."

ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: With the Joe McCarthymen in stride again, the Memorial Day double-header between the Yanks and the Red Sox is a potential record-breaker . . . The same clubs set the attendance record two years ago Thursday when 84,041 fans turned out for an early season "crucial" double-header . . . The Boston club's "take" is expected to exceed $25,000, but Tom Yawkey's bank account lost more than that by the postponement of last Saturday's twin-bill.

HAS THE BOSTON GARDEN declared a $6.00 dividend against earnings of $8.60 on the common stock? . . . The 1939 melon amounted to $8.00 a share . . . The New York Garden, incidentally, has turned thumbs-down on summer softball, and the abortive "boom" in that sport, as an indoor game, seems to have subsided . . . The Boston Communists distribute literature by hand and from door-to-door between the hours of one a. m. and dawn . . . A New York columnist asserts that Brookline has been the latest point of the Reds' propaganda attack.

A GRADUATE PRESENT to Robert Windheim, who starred at Concord High in football, was announced today as Robert was making ready to accept a Notre Dame sheepskin Saturday next . . . He has been signed as coach of athletics at Abbey School, Canon City, Colorado . . . The Notre Dame tackle has been a lifeguard at Lake Walden throughout his undergraduate summers . . . Blonde Mae Brown's sizeable following, won as a perennially popular burlesque queen in Boston theaters, has made her engagement a highlight of the Crawford House season . . . "Sunrise Serenade," the Glenn Miller anthem, should be given partial credit for the inspiration of "Lovers' Lullaby" . . . The words, of course, are different.

KAY LAWRENCE of Newtonville, the attractive Boston newswriter, has been working for—"believe it or not," she says—Bob Ripley . . . She's home for a few days before rejoining the New York cartoonist-showman . . . While Ripley was in Boston for a day, he found time to browse around the Beacon Hill section, and purchased several steins for addition to his famous collection . . . The rumored Eleanor Powell-Merrill Pye marriage is off, friends of the Springfield movie hoofer say.

ESTABEN CORTEZ made so many friends in America as a member of the famous dancing team of Cortez and Peggy that sorrow was widespread when the Spanish War was fought and finished with Cortez unaccounted for . . . A postcard has arrived—from Spain . . . Peggy Malone, the other half of the onetime famous dance-duo,

MUSICALS BOUGHT FOR ANNA NEAGLE

By Harriet Parsons

Anna Neagle

Pinch-hitting for Louella O. Parsons who is on vacation

HOLLYWOOD, May 28—These are panicky days in Hollywood — but apparently still debonair enough: a guerre) hasn't scared George J. Schaefer president of RKO. Yesterday in New Y[illegible] RKO correspondents eyes pop when he announced the program for next year. According to Mr. Schaefer two new musicals have been bought for Anna Neagle, "No, No, Nanette" the old Vincent Youmans hit, and the equally old, but good, "Sunny," with Jerome Kern's music. All of which sounds like Miss Neagle's musical "Irene" clicked at the box office better than her more serious "Nurse Edith Cavell."

NAN GRAY

But Mr. Schaefer wasn't through with the report of his buying spree by a long shot. An original romantic comedy by Paul Gattico, "Tom, Dick and Harry," is lined up for Ginger Rogers with Garson Kanin directing. Gene Towne and Graham Baker will follow "Swiss Family Robinson" with a novelty, "How to Meet a Man," and, now hold your breath. Orson Welles flew to the convention to tell them he's decided on "John Citizen, U. S. A." for his first film and will be ready to start in two weeks. I can't wait.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD: Nancy Kelly phones to say her engagement with Irving Cummings, Jr., has been definitely broken. She's decided matrimony and a career won't mix; Georgie Jessel arrived at 8 a. m. and was met at the plane by a sleepy-eyed child bride. His passage was booked under the name Sam Carleton which was the reason the press no savvy; Olivia De Havilland and Jimmie Stewart have told Warner bosses they don't want to make stills together.

KAY KYSER'S songbird—and gal friend—Gilly Simms has a new nose; Luise Rainer and Garson Kanin—La Mazeirg—and amazing. Another interesting but not so novel twosome, Bette Davis and Bob Tapplinger, at the same spot listening to Greta Keller.

NAN GRAY and Jockey Jackie Westrope celebrated his reinstatement by the California racing board at La Conga. Wera Engels and Ivan Lebedeff were there too, coming with German refugee friends; Sir Cedric Hardwicke, first actor ever to be elected an honorary member of Delta Kappa Alpha, threw a big party at Victor Hugo's for the U. S. chapter.

TWO-MINUTE STORY

THE CAPTAIN watched Private Dolan approaching. He knew what he was coming for and his lips folded into a grim slit of determination.

Dolan was coming for a leave of absence. The captain knew the story that circulated around the camp. That Dolan could wind him around his finger. Dolan with the voice of a preacher. Dolan who could make a man weep with his tales of tragedy and woe.

Yes, and Dolan who could lie as calmly and as magnificently as he could downing a glass of whiskey. The captain's eyes were bleak as the private approached.

"GOOD MORNING to you, captain." The captain eyed him for a moment, then replied:

"Good morning Dolan, something I can do for you?" The soldier bowed his head dramatically.

"Yes, captain, it's me wife." Silence for a moment as Dolan began his heart wrending tale. It was a masterpiece. His wife had a complication of heart diseases and she worried. Oh!—ever so much about him. She had just suffered a relapse. He was afraid she'd take a turn for the worse. Finally he ended his story, and with a voice filled with pathos said:

"And so captain it's under these circumstances that I'm asking you for a leave of absence." The captain's face set sternly and he turned to the soldier:

"Dolan, you're lying. You're lying because I just received a letter from your wife saying that she doesn't want you home because you drink too much and you don't do a lick of work."

"Private Dolan, it hurts me to think that a man in my company should be caught lying, especially after all the pains I've taken to instill into you men some semblance of honor and decency. I'm ashamed of you." Dolan bowed his head and made for the door. But before walking [illegible] turned and said:

"Captain, can I speak to you man to man?"

"Well what is it?"

"Well, sir, just between you and I we're the most elegant pair of story tellers the Creator ever made. I have no wife, sir!"

Can you write a story as good as this? Write one now. Send it to Two-Minute Story Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston. Five dollars will be paid for the week's best story.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

LIKE a lively shindy? Regular free-for-all, with no holds barred? Then here's a question which is guaranteed to turn the most peaceful dove-cote into a Donegal Fair: "WHICH GAVE THE BETTER PERFORMANCE THE OLD-FASHIONED MOTHER OR THE MODERN ONE?"

A reporter decided to take a vote. So he hit the street with his mike or, the Saturday preceding Mothers' Day and began asking questions, playing no favorites, just taking folks as they came. What's your bet as to results? Think the majority favored the Nifty Modern Numbers? You'd be surprised! Listen:

Came first a brisk Business Man. What did he think of the 1940 Maternal Models versus the 1904 patterns? He thought poorly and didn't care a darn who knew it!

"THERE'S NO comparison!" he snapped. "The young mothers of today are so busy seeking excitement—playing cards, hanging around cocktail bars and night spots that they never establish a real motherly relationship with their children."

"That's true," echoed another gentleman, "but it isn't quite fair to blame the women for it. The whole world has changed; they've naturally been affected by it. There are so many distractions. Girls are brought up to think pleasure is a prime essential and a supreme, personal right. You can't blame them for trying to escape the dullness their mothers endured."

But the third male bystander wouldn't accept the alibi.

"A woman should do her duty, regardless of passing trends," he opined. "Modern women are too far away from the essentials of home-making. They're too pampered . . . they've been taught to regard sacrifice and drudgery as stupid and degrading. The consequence is they're afraid to work. And the worst thing is they're bringing up their girls by the same dangerous standards . . . losing another crop of shallow, selfish, lazy mothers on the world."

"Tisn't so!" said the two Red Cross workers. "The Modern Mother has all that her Old-Fashioned Mother had—and more. She has a far better understanding of her children and their problems, and a much better relationship with her world.

I SOMETIMES wonder if a Mother's shoulder ever seems as soft today to a troubled young head as my weary little Mother's did . . . or a heart as deeply understanding! Sacrifice does have its points, even if it isn't recognized in the current vogue! What do YOU think?

ONE OF THE MERRIEST parties ushering in the holiday will be the small, informal barn dance which the Frederick B. Robinsons of Milton are giving in their barn in honor of Mrs. Robinson's cousin, Justine V. R. Hooper . . . Justine, known to her intimate friends as Anita (as a distinction from her mother who was Justine V. R. Barber), was a debutante of the past winter and belongs to the Vincent Club . . .

The Robinsons have invited a number of their younger married friends to the party . . . among them Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Francis of Dover, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick G. Crocker, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Hallowell, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas B. Gannett and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Mason, Jr., all of Milton . . .

Justine's sister debs will include Christina Lowell, who is coming up from the Cape, where her family have already opened their summer home, Mary Coolidge, and Margaret Goodhue, who was honored at a merry dance given by Stuart Montgomery at his Medfield estate a week ago . . . Debs and Harvardians are still reminiscing about this affair, at which they danced in a huge tent erected on the lawn, had their drinks at an improvised bar in a stall in the barn, and were serenaded by Harry Marshard and his boys as they munched hamburgs and hot dogs in the moonlit lilac arbor . . .

HALLDIS PRINCE, one of our local society girls who has made good as a fashion model in New York, hasn't allowed her success at modelling to dim her enthusiasm to go on the stage . . . She has been home resting and visiting her mother, Mrs. Charles B. Prince of Dover, for a couple of weeks, and returned to Gotham yesterday by motor with her brother, Charles, who is in business in Rochester, N. Y. . . . Mrs. Prince is moving to her summer home in Dublin, N. H., July 1, but in the meantime Halldis may have decided on summer theatrical work, which might take her to any New England resort from Maine to Connecticut . . .

Engage Boxes At Horse Show

Boxholders for the Dedham Horse Show on Memorial Day at the Dedham Country and Polo Club include many prominent members of the horsey set in Dover, Medfield Dedham and surrounding towns.

EXHIBIT OF ETCHINGS AT SHAW GALLERY

Mrs. William Emerson, Mrs. Carl Dreyfus, Mrs. Morton P. Prince and Mrs. Frederick S. Ernst were patronesses at the private view of an exhibition of etchings of New England, Williamsburg and Europe by Samuel Chamberlain of Marblehead which opened yesterday at the George R. Shaw Gallery.

Mattapan Girl Engaged

Mr. and Mrs. James J. Higgins of Cook ter., Mattapan, announce the engagement of their daughter, Gertrude Clare, to Richard C. Fannon, also of Mattapan.

Miss Higgins is a graduate of the Girls' High School and Boston Clerical School. Mr. Fannon is a graduate of St. John's Prep School of Danvers and also attended Villanova College.

The wedding date has been set for Sept. 1, after which the couple will make their home in Jamaica Plain.

Give-in to 'REGULAR' PAIN? .... NOT ME!

REDEEM THOSE LOST DAYS FOR ACTIVE LIVING . . . WITH MIDOL

What confidence it gives, to go through the month without dread of "regular" pain. And what comfort, not having to give-in when trying days come!

Midol, a new formula developed for its special purpose, relieves the functional pain of menstruation for millions of women. Why not try it? It contains no opiates. One comforting Midol ingredient is prescribed frequently by thousands of doctors. Another—exclusively in Midol—further fortifies its relief by helping to reduce spasmodic pain peculiar to the menstrual process.

If you have no organic disorder calling for medical or surgical treatment, you should find Midol effective. If it doesn't help you, see your doctor. All drugstores have Midol. Five tablets—more than enough for a convincing trial—20c; 12 tablets, 40c.

New Cotton Prints

By ANNICE BRINK

THEY'RE so cool and sweet looking that you just visualize a shady porch, clinking lemonade jug and mild, summery chit-chat, just to see them . . . some new cotton prints that a Boston shop is featuring.

They are highly individual . . . for their print patterns have been inspired by blooms from South America. Some are cool amazon lillies . . . others have folk lore wound around them, like a twining leaf and flower pattern called 'Vine of Unattached Love.'

And they're all so carefully made that you can wear them for all sorts of things . . . with a shady hat to the local horse shows, where you see the children carefully and eagerly show, and everyone just visits. Or you'll wear them for local shopping trips, bridge afternoons . . . almost anything.

One print frock has a tiny lace collar and fine tucked pleats from shoulder to hips, letting out skirt fullness from there on.

They almost remind you of fine Liberty prints, but they cost only a little more than five dollars. The pale pink, pale green and white "amazon lily" print is done up in a dirndl style with a lace vestee insert, a narrow long V and a small collar.

There is a suggestion of brilliant coloring in another . . . deep green leaves and purplish flower, though the pastel tints are held.

Since they come in a wide range of sizes, and the styles are so adaptable for heavier figures, it's easy to see that they can make the entire summer wardrobe for the at-homes who like to look pretty on porch or in the kitchen.

You Can Be Beautiful

Whisks Off Unwanted Hair

By ARLINE GOULD

QUICK! QUICK! The holiday is almost here . . . you have thousands of things to do, and speed is essential in getting together your glamour-stuff for your days off, whether it's just Thursday and then the week-end or a whole glorious English week-end right through to Monday!

If your legs or arms need de-haring . . . and you want it done without muss, fuss or a waste of time, use a little "velvet stone" that polishes off the hair like a whizz!

This is a little pink plaque that is quite unlike others of its ilk and it's much less expensive, too. Brand new, just arrived in town!

It comes with a handy glossy of ribbon on the top, and is set in a little compact, fit compliments for your powder or rouge corners.

With it is a "re-surfacing" pad, et . . . all included in the price of $1 . . . so that you may use it down to its last pink layer of glamour-insurance.

This isn't a depilatory . . . it isn't a kitchen-concoction . . . or a goolly mess . . . it's a smooth pad that literally polishes off the hair shafts, and so closely that there is absolutely no sign of stubble.

Because of the unique action on the shafts, they're not encouraged to grow in twice as fast, and their texture is absolutely unchanged when finally they do summon enough courage to appear again.

If you'd like to learn about this wonderful "velvet stone" which keeps superfluous hair out of the summer picture, and is almost incredibly simple to use . . . for $1 you get the pink stone, a compact and re-surfacer . . . phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000, week-days until 5:30, except the holiday, or Saturday, or write, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

FREE of the self-consciousness that disfiguring arm or leg hair brings . . . this might be you instead of Olivia De Havilland, in a cute little white silk jersey tennis frock . . . Today Arline Gould tells of a jiffy-quick new method of "polishing" off with a smooth, light touch any superfluous hair.

High Mass Wedding

DEAR MRS BEECKMAN:

Please tell me what a man and his wife should wear when attending a high mass wedding. After the ceremony, the wedding breakfast is being served at a hotel. R. A.

To this morning wedding you would wear a street-length dress with a coat, or a suit or ensemble, the skirt of street-length. You would, of course, wear a hat, and could keep it on during the wedding breakfast. Your husband would wear a business suit, preferably a dark one.

Creamed Crabmeat Delicious

By MARTHA LEE

WHAT could be more inviting for a luncheon or a buffet than shells or individual casseroles filled with a tasty creamed crabmeat mixture and served with piping-hot buttered rolls and a salad? And a perfect dessert to top off the meal is an ice cream-filled cup cake with a butterscotch sauce.

Tender juicy bits of pink crabmeat and minced celery and green pepper folded into a smooth creamy white sauce and topped with golden buttered crumbs, is a main dish fit for the most discriminate appetite. A tangy sauce made of chili sauce and horseradish is a colorful and tasty accompaniment to serve with this delicious seafood dish.

CREAMED CRABMEAT IN SHELLS

. cup diced celery
. cup diced green pepper
. tbsp. butter
. tbsp. flour
1 cup milk
tsp. salt
Dash of pepper
1 . cups flaked crabmeat
. cup
Cook celery in a very small quantity of boiling water for 1 minutes; add green pepper and cook before all is done. Melt butter in saucepan, blend in flour and add milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Add salt and pepper. Combine with crabmeat and celery. Fill shells or individual casserole; sprinkle with buttered crumbs and brown in a hot oven (425 deg. F.) for about 15 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Makes 6 servings.

If not cooked in shells, 1 cup of lobster may be substituted for the crabmeat if you prefer, they all make an equally delicious dish. And if you care to vary the dish still further substitute flaked tuna fish or salmon — one taste and your culinary triumph will be acclaimed a success.

CUP CAKES

2 cups cake flour
3 tsp. baking powder
. tsp. salt
. cup shortening
1 cup sugar
2 egg
. cup milk
1 tsp. vanilla extract

Mix and sift flour, baking powder, and salt. Cream shortening and add sugar slowly, and cream until blended. Add unbeaten eggs and beat well. Add sifted dry ingredients alternately with milk stirring well after each addition. Add vanilla extract. Bake in two greased 9-inch layer cake pans, or two sets greased muffin pans in moderate oven (375 deg. F.) about 25 minutes. Cool and frost as desired. Makes about 16 medium sized cup cakes.

BUTTERSCOTCH SAUCE

2 cups sugar
1 cup heavy cream

Put half the sugar in small heavy frying pan and stir with a wooden spoon over low heat until melted. Add remaining sugar slowly. Stir constantly until smooth. Serve hot. Makes 12 servings.

This sauce may be stored in a covered jar in the refrigerator and reheated.

Family Budget

By Marian C. McCarrol

"DORRIE!"

The word, bursting out of Stephen's mouth like a bullet out of a gun, whizzed across the living room, whistled through the door of the dining alcove and all but knocked Dorrie off the chair where she was standing putting the dishes away on their shelves.

"Hey!" she called back indignantly. "You almost scared the platter right out of my hand! What do you want anyhow?"

"I want you to come here!" Stephen's tone left no room for argument, and resignedly Dorrie clambered down and went into the living room.

"Well?" she inquired.

Stephen put a pencil check on the paper he held and looked up.

"How long have we been married?"

Dorrie beamed, surprised but beatific. "Ten months!" she breathed rapturously. "Ten months and eighteen days!"

"All right, skip the eighteen days. Then that makes just ten times I've told you that we've got to live on a budget and that "

"Why, Stephen Driscoll, it does not!" Dorrie was outraged. "Why, you never even mentioned such a thing as a budget for at least two months after we were married, and then you said you were sorry you'd brought it up!"

"I remember." This time Stephen's tone was slightly grim "You bawled because I said we didn't need coffee cups when we'd already got two dozen for wedding presents. You said they were a terrific bargain and we'd certainly need them some day when we had a big party and you didn't see how I could be so mean. So I was sap enough to let you throw away money we couldn't afford because I couldn't stand it to see you cry. All right. Skip the two months that I didn't mention a budget and the third month when you cried. That leaves only seven times I've explained that we don't have money for things like that"—and Stephen's pencil jabbed viciously at the paper before him.

Dorrie peered over his shoulder. "1 pr. gold brocade mules. ..$4.50" she saw.

Oh—those! But I need new ones, Steve. My others were wrecks."

"And new ones had to be gold brocade and cost $4.50. I suppose. Well—how about this?—'1 bun warmer, $1.75' What in the name of all that's screwy is a bun warmer and what did you buy it for?"

Dorrie hesitated, stammered and gave up. "For no particular reason, I guess. I just saw it one day and thought it would come in handy some time. Oh, Steve, please don't scold! I'm sorry. I'll take it back."

But Steve's mouth was a tight line, and he ignored the pleading hand on his arm.

"For no particular reason!" he repeated ironically. "That's just dandy, isn't it? While I'm eating lunch at the drugstore every day to keep inside a budget, you're out buying gold brocade mules and a—bun warmer for no particular reason!"

"Oh, Steve!" Dorrie's voice was a wail. "Please don't be so mad! I tried. But when I see bargains, somehow I forget all about budgets! Oh dear, what am I going to do?"

Stephen's answer was prompt.

ONE MORE CHANCE?

"I'll tell you what you're going to do. First, you're going to return those mules and get cheaper ones. And you're going to return that bun warmer and get nothing else instead. Then you're going to have your charge account stopped. You're going to have money given you every month, and when that's gone you're not going to get another cent till the next if you have to go barefoot. That's what you're going to do!"

"Steve—please!" Tears stood in Dorrie's eyes. "I know I've been awful and I'm terribly ashamed. But please let me try once more. Please give me just one more chance and let me show you I can live on a budget. If I flop once more you can stop the charge account and I won't say a word. Honest!"

Steve hesitated, and weakened. After all, she'd never known till she married him what it was to have so little money. And she was such a swell kid. And he loved her.

"Well," he conceded finally, "just once more then. But it's definitely the last time. And for heaven's sake, Dorrie, don't buy anything for no particular reason!"

"I won't," promised Dorrie. "You'll see."

And he did see. So exemplary did Dorrie's record become that they almost forgot it had ever been anything else.

Then, some months later, there came a day when an unaccountable restlessness descended on Dorrie. Wandering disconsolately about the apartment, unable to settle to anything, a sudden impulse took her. She would go down and walk through some of the shops. Not to buy anything—her monthly quota was spent—but just to look. Looking didn't cost anything, and it would be something to do this dull afternoon.

Three hours later, empty-handed and proud of it, she was passing a counter near the door of her favorite store on her way home, when her eye was caught by something a salesgirl was holding up for a customer to see. Dangling from the girl's finger, it shot out colored sparks where the store lights struck its pearly surface.

Dorrie stopped, and the girl, seeing her interest, held the bauble toward her. "They just came in," she said, "and there are only two left. Want to look at it?"

Dorrie took it in her hand. It was the most precious thing she had ever seen. The sparks of color were tiny animals set in the pearl circlet. An infinitesimal emerald-green camel. A minute ruby-eyed elephant. A royal blue lion, kingly though so small, and four or five others, trailing in a gay parade.

"The animals are a colored plastic, not dyed," said the girl. "Something brand new. And we won't be able to get any more when these are gone."

FIVE-NINETY-EIGHT!

"How much?" asked Dorrie, her eyes on a purple zebra.

"Only five-ninety-eight. Just imagine! They look so expensive."

Dorrie turned the ring round and round on her finger. Five-ninety-eight. Perhaps she didn't exactly need it, but the time might come when it would be just the thing. Five-ninety-eight would be six-seventy-three over the budget, because she had run seventy-five cents over already. Stephen wouldn't mind seventy-five cents so much, but he'd be really cross at six-seventy-three if five-ninety-eight was for—for no particular reason. But there were only two left. And when they were gone, there would never be any more. But Stephen was so proud of her when she kept to the budget. And she loved him.

Dorrie stopped turning the ring on her finger and took it off. She handed it back across the counter. "Thank you for letting me see it," she said.

She was so quiet that evening that Stephen was puzzled. And the next morning, when she didn't eat any breakfast, he was frankly worried.

"There's nothing the matter," she insisted to his anxious questions. "I just don't want any. Can't I not want any breakfast if I want to?"

It was so unlike Dorrie to be irritable that Stephen went off definitely upset. At noon, however, when he phoned to inquire diplomatically if she were feeling better he was relieved to find her as gay as ever.

"I went out awhile and got some fresh air," she told him. "I feel fine now."

Another week brought the first of a new month. Perched on the arm of Stephen's chair, Dorrie watched while he checked off meat bill, grocery bill, milk bill and then opened the bill from the department store. Pencil in hand, he ran down the list of items. Suddenly the pencil halted. For a minute nobody spoke. Then Stephen said slowly: "Pearl ring—five-ninety-eight."

"Well—what about it?"

"What about it?" Stephen echoed. "What about a pearl ring? For five-ninety-eight?"

"You mean," said Dorrie, "you're surprised it was so cheap."

"Something like that," said Stephen. "But more like this: I'm surprised you'd want anything so cheap. If you had to have a pearl ring, I suppose you had to have it right now. You couldn't wait till I could afford to get you a real one."

"No," said Dorrie softly. "I couldn't wait. I had to have this one right now. I had a reason."

From the pocket of her housecoat, she produced a flat white box and opened it. "Look," she said.

FOR A BABY

Stephen looked. He saw a mother-of-pearl circlet perhaps two inches across, a colorful procession of tiny animals parading around it. Far too big to go on Dorrie's finger, it was still much too small for a bracelet to go around her wrist.

Dorrie gazed at him, waiting. Finally he spoke, in strained quiet.

"Of all the screwy things you've ever bought, this one takes all prizes. I suppose you're going to wear it in your nose."

Dorrie smiled gently. "No," she said, "I'm not. I'm not going to wear it at all. It's not for me. It's for a baby. To cut his teeth on, you know."

Stephen threw up his hands. "I give up," he groaned helplessly. "For a baby! When we haven't even got a——" He stopped abruptly and stared at Dorrie. She had taken the ring from the box and was holding it out, her eyes shining.

"Look at the darling little animals, Stevie!" she cried. "Won't he just love them? You know he will! You know I had to get this for him!"

Stephen's transfixed expression slowly turned to a wide grin as he reached out to gather Dorrie in his arms. "What do you mean 'him'?" he demanded. "How do you know he won't be a 'her'?"

It was Dorrie's turn to look startled. "Why——" she stammered, "why, I never thought of him being anything else. Oh, how silly! Stevie, why in the world do you keep on loving me when I'm such an awful idiot about everything?"

Stephen drew her closer and pressed his cheek tight against hers. " I can't imagine," he murmured. "For no particular reason, I guess."

THE END.

Be sure to read tomorrow's thrilling story, complete on this page.

"Oh, Steve!" Dorrie's voice was a wail. "Please don't be so mad."

2 Found Guilty Of Arson Fraud

SPRINGFIELD, May 28—Last chapter in a weird insurance fraud was recorded today with guilty pleas by Mrs. Viktoria Beszczak, 53, and her daughter, Emily, 22, on charges of attempting to defraud and arson.

They were charged with touching off their $6700 home to collect a $4000 policy. A neighbor, Wojciech Jordon, 65, died of a heart attack when he ran to a fire box to summon firemen.

Police said the girl locked her mother in the hayloft of the barn after igniting the house and officers found the mother comfortably ensconced with food, a feather bed and pillows.

Each was given a suspended sentence of one year in jail.

lowed clipping reporting the ceremonies relates:

"All went well except that Prince Leopold ran away from the exercises in University Hall and went off with a pretty girl to have the Harvard stadium explained to him."

Since that fateful Aug. 29, 1935, when Leopold's queen, the beautiful Astrid, was killed in an automobile accident in Switzerland, Leopold has been credited with going away with many another beautiful girl—at one time he was said to be ready to wed Archduchess Adelaide of Austria. At another it was Princess Alexandrine Louise of Denmark. And yet a third romantic interest was said to be Lady Anne Cavendish Bertinck, granddaughter of the British Duke of Portland.

But Leopold has ever remained faithful to the memory of the queen who mothered his three children. There was Europe's "love match" and Leopold has never allowed its aura to be dimmed.

Only the world's memories of the heroic young prince who fought in the trenches in 1914, of the gallant young king who led his troops against the crushing German machine 18 days ago, were tarnished memories today.

Premier Reynaud made them so when he said:

"Capitulated . . . on the order of its king."

Ex-Film Player Takes Her Life

VAN NUYS, Cal., May 28 (AP)—Mrs. Barbara Fielding, 32, formerly Barbara McLeod of the movies, was fatally shot in her home here.

Detective Lieut. William Mart reported she shot herself after an argument with her husband, Gerald C. Fielding. The officer said Fielding told him he had refused to give his wife their motor car keys because she had been drinking.

The McLeods came to California from Minneapolis about 25 years ago. Her mother is Mrs. James Alan McLeod, Pasadena socialite.

Fielding, former British film actor, is a radio executive.

Woman Is Killed In Fall From Car

NEW BEDFORD, May 28—Mrs. Annie Bolduc, 24, of Belair st., a telephone operator, was dead at St. Luke's Hospital today from a fractured skull. Her husband, George, 25, told police that as they were riding in his auto early today the door opened and his wife fell into the street.

Yacht Blast Tip Wins $5 News Prize

On Wednesday of last week a 60-foot yacht blew up at a Marblehead boat yard, injuring two men, one of them fatally, and creating for a time the impression that an even more serious catastrophe had occurred.

A Marblehead man hurried to a telephone and called the City Editor, Liberty 4000 enabling the Daily Record-Boston American to obtain a good beat on the story. For his initiative and quick thinking he was awarded the sum of $5, tops in the news tips contest.

WINS $2 AWARD

An award of $2 went to an Allston man for a complete and exclusive story of Ellen Lindstrom getting a settlement in the Rita Harris will case. To a Medfield girl went a similar amount for a tip on the discovery of a man shot at Medfield.

When an airplane crashed at Hudson, bearing two men to their deaths, a West Newton man telephoned a tip which won him a $2 award. The same sum was awarded to a Dorchester man for a story on how a bagsnatcher who had climbed in a bedroom window, was captured as a result of the alarm being given by a child. A Boston man also won $2 for two feature picture tips.

A Winthrop girl was awarded $1 for a tip on a boy being electrocuted by the old Narrow Gauge power line in Winthrop, and the same amount went to a Winthrop man for the story of a girl killed in an automobile crash in Georgetown.

CHASE, CAPTURE TIP

The story of the chase and capture of a handbag snatcher in Brookline won $1 for a Dorchester woman, and the same amount went to a Roslindale girl for a tip on a Roslindale fire in which a mother rescued her children.

The sum of $1 was also awarded to a Jamaica Plain man for a tip on the finding of a tombstone at Bedford and Washington sts. A Quincy woman got $1 for a tip on a Quincy fire, and similar amounts went to the following:

A Cambridge man for a tip on a fireman being suffocated at a Spring st., East Cambridge, fire; a Revere man for the story of an airplane crash in Revere in which no one was hurt; a Brighton man for a tip on a trolley accident at Park st., and a Revere girl for a tip on a man asphyxiated by gas on North Shore rd., Revere.

Police Slaying Case in Court

Joseph L. Brooks, paroled New York convict, was scheduled for arraignment in Dedham superior court today on an indictment charging him with the first degree murder of Patrolman Edward F. Lee of Milton, on May 16.

The Norfolk county grand jury, in a speedy two-hour session, also indicted Brooks on a charge of larceny of an automobile. Additional indictments charging automobile theft were similarly returned against Armand Parineau, 23, of Dwight st., South End, and George Zakouskis, 21, of Athens st., South Boston.

The latter allegedly were Brooks' companions on the morning that the Milton patrolman was shot to death in front of the Milton police station.

Wanna Live to 100? Eat Like Chickens!

Man could easily live to be 100 if he could choose his foods with the instinctive accuracy of chickens.

This prediction was made by Leavitt C. Parsons, publisher, writer and authority on vitamins, in addressing the first Boston forum on vitamins at the Copley Plaza hotel.

In illustrating his contention, Parsons said that chickens voluntarily ate six times as much cod liver oil in the month of February, when there is little sunlight, as in the month of May, when the sun shines brightly.

AUSTEN LAKE says:

Del Mar Race Track Cost U. S. $521,047

WASHINGTON, May 28—Something of an all-time new high for audacity is contained in the House report of the Work Projects Administration's "collaboration" with a Del Mar, California, turf club.

The Del Mar sportsmen apparently looked on the Federal Bureau as an imbecile old duffer with his pockets stuffed full of confetti money. So they took him—foot, horse and light artillery—for $521,047 worth.

AUSTEN LAKE

And what could a needy housewife with a flock of hungry kids do with funds like that in terms of pancakes, spinach and bone-building nutriments!

Certain people in Del Mar wanted a race track—not a cinder saucer where athletic kids could romp around in spiked slippers and flimsy pants, but a big, he-man dirt track with grandstands, paddocks, barns and pari-mutuels, where Mr. and Mrs. Two-Bucks could bet on the probabilities of a horse's legs.

The Del Mar syndicate wanted a race track, but they didn't want to sink any personal cash. What, ho! The WPA!

It was a cinch! Here is what the WPA investigating sub-committee says about it:

"George B. White was the WPA Administrator at San Diego from Sept. 1, 1935, to Jan. 1, 1938. During this period negotiations were being conducted with a turf club for building and operating a race track. White was present and participated in these negotiations . . ."

NO SCHEME CHARGED

With naive self-restraint the committee does not say that there was any collusion or that the turf people were out to get a hatful of Uncle Samuel's cash. It says, with a typographical eye-brow waggle that, when the papers were drawn:

"The proposals contained Mr. White's signature of approval."

As an added tongue-cluck, the report goes on

"The WPA officials admit that there was no justification for this project, for the reason that all except one of the twenty-odd buildings constructed by them are now being used for horse racing purposes."

(And isn't Del Mar the horse plant where Bing Crosby, the radio crooner and Hollywood antic actor is a major stockholder?)

Yet there was something manly about the way Col. Francis C. Harrington, now the head man of WPA in Washington, made a clean breast of the matter. Under cross-examination by the committee, Colonel said

"We were taken for a ride on that one and I am perfectly willing to admit it."

That was pretty white of him, only the Colonel made an error! It wasn't WPA who took the "ride" but the U. S. taxpayers who dug the $521,047 out of their living flesh and the needy people for whom the money was originally intended.

But shux! Why niggle? Think of all the fuzz on the tongue and heart flutters Del Mar's track is giving its gambling citizens.

"Well," sighed Col. Harrington during the examination, "the object was to provide work for the unemployed, and if the utility of all projects were to be examined and debated, most of the unemployed would still be unemployed."

There is, perhaps, some logic in that, albeit unemployment today is estimated at one or more millions more than it was before WPA's inception.

Hubbell Holds Mates in Flag Race

By BILL GRIMES

"With the exceptions of Rowell and Ross, the Bees were not accustomed to playing ball while black out edicts were in effect," declared Manager Casey Stengel this morning, when asked to account for his hirelings' 7 to 1 victory over the Giants yesterday afternoon at National League Field. "And for that reason we haven't done so well of late.

DICK ERRICKSON

"So, just as soon as I saw the sun shining yesterday, I left word the Bees were going to knock out the Terrymen for the first time in eight starts.

"We've made the Giants look like a far better club than they are this spring. In fact, we are solely responsible for the Terrymen being in third place. We've contributed no less than seven of the Terrymen's 17 victories, and if the shoe had been on the other foot, we'd be in the first division and the Giants would be battling Frankie Frisch's Pirates for last place.

Although he refused to be quoted, Manager Bill Terry hinted that King Carl Hubbell, who has been his meal ticket for years, will be on the hilltop for the Giants this afternoon. On his last time out which was a week ago today King Carl stopped the Cincinnati Reds 6 to 4, holding the Rain forced postponement of today's game between the Giants and Bees. The Phillies, with Art Mahon of Somerville playing first base, are the next Beehive visitors. They will play a single game tomorrow, double-header Memorial Day.

Bill Terry Hints Giants' Hopes Rest on Hubbell

McKechniemen to seven hits while beating Paul Derringer.

Bill Posedel turned in his best performance of the season yesterday while hanging a 7 to 1 defeat on the Giants. He turned back the first eleven Giants that faced him in order and allowed the Terrymen only four hits. He had almost perfect control for he passed only one man, who, incidentally, scored the lone New York run, and was in trouble on but one occasion.

While Porthole Bill had the Giants eating out of his hand, the Bees were eating off the hands off Bill Lohrman and Daffy Dean.

WEST OPENS FIRE

After Posedel had retired six Giants in a row, the Bees hopped on Lohrman for three hits and two runs in the second inning. Maxie West started that frame with a single to left and advanced to second when Chet Ross drew a walk. Then, Tony Cuccinello came through with the first of his four hits, a handle single to center, which scored West with the first run. Al Lopez slapped one at Babe Young, who threw to Harry Danning and trapped Ross between third and home and the young Bee was tagged out by Whitehead. Then Eddie blooped one into center field, and Cuccinello tallied to give the Bees a two-run lead.

Again, in the third, the Giants were down in order but not so the Bees. With two men down, Hassett pulled one which was too hot for Babe Young to handle and moved along to the keystone sack when West singled to left. Ross hit one which broke away from Bill Jurges for a single and Buddy jogged across the plate and Cuccinello scored Ross from first base with a long two bagger down the left field foul line.

WEST NIPS GLOSSOP

With two down in the fourth, Sailor Bill walked Joe Demaree who raced all the way home when Mel Ott rifled one against the center field fence for two bases.

With the exception of a harmless hit by Max West in the fifth, the Bees were unable to do any business with Paul Dean, who started in the fourth, until the sixth. In that round, Cuccinello and Lopez singled in quick succession and the former scored on Eddie Miller's smash to center, which sent Capt. Al around to third, from where he tallied on Sailor Bill's long hoist to Joe Demaree.

But, after Bama Rowell had flied to Jo Jo Moore, Johnny Cooney flipped one to right for a single. Eddie Miller pulled up between second and third, thinking that Mel Ott had made the catch and he was thrown out by a wide margin to end the inning.

SOX RIDE WITH YOUTH AS BUTLAND PITCHES AGAINST A'S TONIGHT

PHILADELPHIA, May 28—Bill Butland gets his chance to see what he can do in the majors tonight.

The 22-year-old stringbean right-hander has been on the Red Sox bench all season, and if he isn't rusty around the hinges he'll show the A's some plain and fancy twirling under the arcs at Shibe Park this p. m.

Bill stands six feet, five inches and uses a side arm delivery. He's so long that the ball seems to be coming from third base against right handed batters. He'll blind them.

A fellow naturally can't get control sitting on the bench, and Bill needs control to be a winning pitcher. That's why he may not be at his best tonight. He's fast, faster than his teammate from Minneapolis, Herb Hash, and being only 22 to Hash's 26 would seem to have a better future.

FOOLS BATTERS

He'll fill out in years to come, and when he does his fast ball ought to rival Feller's. It won't look so fast from the stands because of Bill's rhythmic delivery. But it is most deceptive to the batters.

American Association managers claim Butland will be better than Hash in the long run, and considering that Hash is considered one of mainstays on the Sox, this is encouraging indeed.

Joe Cronin insisted again today that he's going to ride with his youngsters from here in.

For years he has been depending on the Galehouses, Wilsons and Ostermuellers to win a pennant for him, and it seems as if he's finally convinced they'll never do it.

So it looks like the chance of a lifetime for the Harrises, Hashes, Dickmans, Bagbys and Butlands. Certainly they can't do any worse than the fading veterans, and they probably will do a whole lot better.

Joe Cronin was tickled to see the sun today, for the rain has been dogging the club for three weeks. Too, he was not averse to playing this night game for it will give the club a chance to get a few shekels they missed when they were rained out in Detroit a week ago Sunday, and in Boston last Saturday when they were rained out of a sellout double header with the Yankees.

18 TWIN BILLS AHEAD

And yesterday they were rained out of the first game with the A's here, making a list of 18 double headers the club has ahead.

The Sox close their series with the A's in a daylight game tomorrow, then go to New York for a Memorial Day double header and a single game Friday.

They will be home Saturday to face Chicago and will entertain the rest of the western clubs and Washington before hitting the trail again.

The Detroit Tigers came to the aid of the Sox when they belted out the Cleveland Indians in a night game, thus giving the Hose another half game lead. The Sox now hold a full game advantage on the second place Indians.

Cubs Balk At Price Tag On Miller

CHICAGO, May 28 (AP)—The Chicago Cubs, realizing they might get into the National League flag chase with a reliable shortstop, still are looking for a successor to Bill Jurges.

Jurges, you may remember, was the last fancy shortstop the Cubs employed, and they let him get away after the 1938 season in a trade with the New York Giants.

Gabby Hartnett's crew since has tried major leaguers and minor leaguers, but there's still a gap in the Cub infield.

MILLER PRICE HIGH

Clarence Rowland, chief Cub scout, went East with the Cubs two weeks ago to try to pry little Eddie Miller loose from the Boston Bees, but has drawn a blank so far. The price on Miller, in cash and players, has been too steep. Eddie, a smooth fielder and fair hitter, might well put the Cubs in the race.

Miller, 24 years old, broke in with the Bees a year ago and was a sensation in 77 games before he broke his leg. His defensive work was superb and he batted .267. This year he's been hitting more consistently and fielding brilliantly.

Since Jurges left, the Cubs have had four shortstops. Dick Bartell, obtained in the Jurges trade, and Bobby Mattick were the Cub shortstops in 1939.

WRIGLEY CAUTIOUS

This year the Cubs have had three men at the spot—Bob Sturgeon, Mattick and Bill Rogell, the latter obtained from Detroit for Bartell. Sturgeon, 19-year-old rookie, started at short, but soon was shipped to Jersey City. The 33-year-old Rogell was given a try, and now Mattick is back in there.

Owner Phil Wrigley doubtless is wary of turning loose a bundle of cash for Miller or any other star. He needs a shortstop, but in the past he has had several bitter experiences in trying to buy a top-flight performer—Dizzy Dean and Chuck Klein being two of the many who were stars elsewhere, but flops with the Cubs.

Robertson Hails Beetem as Future Champion

By SAM BROGNA

Although the University of Pennsylvania will be just one of the many colleges competing in the 64th anual I. C. 4-A championships at the Harvard Stadium Friday and Saturday, there is one individual who is acompanying the team who is expected to grab a large share of the spotlight. This man, in all probability, has done more for track than any other individual in the United States.

Lawson Robertson, veteran coach of the Red and Blue and head mentor of many an Olympic team, is the person referred.

Head of the United States Olympic teams as far back as 1912, Robertson, a tall, solemn gentleman with a whimsical smile and elaborate sense of dry humor and everlasting patience, will lead his charges, a force of 13 men, in the championships for the 25th time.

STARTED IN 1908

Ever since he took up the responsibility of tutoring athletes way back around 1908 when these games were entering their 30th year, he has developed more champions than any other individual connected with the game.

As an Olympic coach, Robertson inherited men who had gone stale under other coaches and he loafed them into condition. Giving all that he had, day and night, he fitted them into an Olympic team that annihilated all opposition.

His Penn team this year may not produce a would-beater and may not accumulate enough points to win the I.C.4A, but he says that it is the strongest group of wearers of the Red and Blue since 1934.

He will be without the services of three potential point scorers in John Diebinger, Edward Jungbans and James Adams. This trio has been forced to the sidelines for the remainder of the season because of injuries or illness.

POINTS TO BEETEM

The athlete Coach Robertson expects to some day become a true champion is Edward Beetem, a 260 pound sophomore. Robertson expects him to score in three events, shot put, hammer throw and discus throw.

Beetem, who won the shot and discus in the Heptagonal games and the hammer throw in the Yale meet, will be up against his stiffest opposition of his collegiate career. He will face none other than Al Blozis, the giant Georgetown sophomore, who tips the scale 20 pounds lighter than hanself.

Palmer Hughes, who tied the Penn record of 9.8 in the Yale meet; Ray Bradley with 22 seconds in the furlong, and Dick Belyea whose 1:53.3 half-mile was the best of the spring until beaten by Jim Lightbody of Harvard in the Hep games, are all expected to finish in the money.

Heroes and Goats

By International News Service

HEROES—Tony Cuccinello, Boston third baseman, who collected four hits in four trys as the Bees beat the New York Giants; Charley Keller, New York Yankee outfielder, who continued his batting spree by hitting a timely homer as the Yankees defeated the Washington Senators.

GOATS—Frankie Gustine, Pittsburgh second baseman, whose costly bobble in first game of a double-header paved the way for a Cincinnati victory; Bill Lohrman, New York pitcher, who was shelled from the hill in the early innings after Bees piled up a five-run lead.

STEVENSON ON SCENE

Jockey Charley Stevenson has arrived from New York to report to the stable of W. E. Boeing at Suffolk Downs. He accepted his first mount of the meeting on Air Speed.

DODGERS RETAIN WHISKER MARGIN OVER REDS IN N. L.

By the Associated Press

National League fans, who have endured so many hair-raising races in recent years that they can feel blase about the child's play now going on in the American League, never have had anything closer than the Cincinnati Reds and Brooklyn Dodgers are today.

They are tighter than a tie, if such a situation is possible.

The Dodgers are on tip in percentage, .714 to .710, but they are half a game behind in the won-lost calculations. Cincinnati has won two games more (22) than the Dodgers, who have lost one less (eight) than the Reds.

REDS TAKE TWO

Then the Reds did all that was in their power to capture the lead in stopping the Pittsburgh Pirates 2-1 and 7-3 yesterday. In the first game Whitey Moore and Joe Beggs combined to hold Pittsburgh to four hits and won the game on two runs donated them in the first inning. Helped by two three-run frames, Jim Turner went the route in the nightcap, scattering nine hits.

But Cincinnati's best just wasn't good enough to erase that percentage margin as long as the Dodgers continued to win—and they chalked up their fourth straight victory with a 6-0 shutout of the Philadelphia Phillies.

Whitlow Wyatt kept four hits nicely spaced while his mates ganged up on Clyde Smoll and Frank Hoerst for an even dozen. Five of the blows came in succession in the fifth inning for three runs.

CUBS STAY IN FIGHT

Pitching keynoted most of the day's games. Bill Posedel held the New York Giants to four safeties while the Boston Bees pounded out a 7-1 triumph with 13 hits off three pitchers. It was Posedel's third win—exactly one-third of all Boston's nine triumphs. Tony Cuccinello joined in the party with two doubles and two singles for a perfect day.

The Chicago Cubs kept the National League design four-cornered by belting the St. Louis Cardinals 7-1 and closing the gap between them and second place to a game and a half. Claude Passeau limited the St. Louis sluggers to seven hits and held them scoreless after the first inning.

The Cleveland Indians slipped half a notch in their efforts to overtake the Boston Red Sox in the American League by losing a night game to the Detroit Tigers, 6-1.

NEWSOM WINS AGAIN

Buck Newsom simply took charge, holding Cleveland to six hits, striking out nine and retiring the last 11 batters in order for his fifth victory, against one defeat. The Red Sox were rained out at Philadelphia.

The New York Yankees pulled a pitching chestnut out of the fire in old time fashion. They got only four hits, the same as the Washington Senators, but triumphed 5-0 Spud Chandler allowed nothing but singles, well separated, while the Yankee blows included Charley Keller's fifth home run with two on and Joe DiMaggio's third.

This enabled the Chicago White Sox to climb back into the First Division by outslugging the St. Louis Browns 15 hits to nine for a 7-5 victory. Ted Lyons went the route for the Sox and with the help of some early inning batting exercise, never was behind.

By JACK CONWAY

THE NAMES OF Max West and Eddie Miller are still being mentioned in trade and sale rumors that are flying around at National League Park. It is a certainty that the Bees will not dispose of either of these players unless by so doing the club can be strengthened.

MAX WEST

West has been bobbing around in the trade winds since the season opened. It is known that several clubs are trying to secure the services of this hard hitter, and they have offered players who would be of value to the Bees.

The fact the Bees have not been winning as many games as Casey Stengel and Bob Quinn would like them to, has added weight to the talk that West is headed for some other club.

The latest report on Eddie Miller is that Shortstop Murullo of the Tulsa club of the Texas League is coming to Boston in a deal that will send the Bees' shortstop to the Cubs for $100,000. When it was first announced from Chicago that the Cubs were trying to land Miller, the proposed deal was stoutly denied by the Bees management.

The Tulsa report in which Shortstop Murullo is mentioned, shows that the story has had some support as far as the West is concerned at least. It is possible that the Cubs management sounded out Tulsa on whether Murullo could be secured so as to have a player to offer along with $100,000 in cash if it felt it had a chance to get Miller.

The Tulsa story contains the additional information that the Cubs are prepared to give Miller $15,000 a year. This is a larger salary than Eddie is getting from the Bees, and would naturally satisfy the player.

The Bees are not interested in strengthening the Cubs or any other club if they cannot help themselves.

The Bees will be in Chicago on June 7, 8 and 9, and at that time it is possible that a definite announcement will be made on the Miller matter.

The Cubs, backed by the Wrigley millions, have been trying desperately to build up a winner. The $180,000 purchase of Dizzy Dean, who turned out to be a failure, at least proved that money was not an object in trying to build up a top team.

The reported $100,000 offer for Miller is not excessive. Eddie is one of the most brilliant shortstops in baseball and has many years of diamond usefulness ahead of him.

* * *

THE CUBS HAVE been trying to secure a first class shortstop for several years. They purchased Dick Bartell from Bill Terry's Giants, but Bartell failed to make good. Dick had considerable trouble with his legs during the Spring training season of 1939, and looked poorly when placed in the Cubs' lineup.

Bartell is now with the Detroit Tigers where he has gained a new lease of baseball life. Dick is being referred to as the spark plug of the Tigers.

Mattick, a youngster, has been playing shortstop for the Cubs, and has been having a fair year.

A checkup on Murullo, who is said to be heading to the Bees from Tulsa, shows he bats seventh in his club's lineup, is a good fielder and fair batter.

Bob Quinn and Casey Stengel are not being panicked into making any sudden deals, and if they finally decide to dispose of some of their present players they are certain to receive 100 per cent value.

FRED WRIGHT, one of the better Massachusetts golfers, says that with better weather golf should have a good season. Fred is in the investment business, but he still finds time to play some golf. In competition, Wright is one of the best golfers in the country.

The condition of the fairways at many of the local clubs is poor as a result of the recent heavy rain. A few warm days, however, are expected to dry out the links sufficiently so that the golfers can tune up their shots for coming tournaments.

A COMMITTEE of South Boston citizens headed by William H. Flanagan and John L. Sullivan are conducting an energetic compaign to secure a gymnasium in South Boston . . . The money for the proposed gym would come from the White Fund.

As part of the program to secure the desired gym, there will be a monster mass meeting in the Municipal building, South Boston, on next Sunday under the direction of the comittee and City Councilors Scannell and Linehan. .

Manero Tops N. E. Qualifiers

Putting together rounds of 72 and 70, Tony Manero, Salem Country Club pro, led the four other qualifiers in the New England sectional tourney for the United States open at the Belmont Springs Country Club.

Two amateurs followed in close order, when Ted Bishop, Newton, carded 72—74 for 146, and Harold Mandly, Jr., Avon, Ct., carded an identical score.

Gerry Gianferante, Brattleboro, Vermont, after burning up the course in the morning with a 71, went the afternoon round in 75 for a total of 146, while Johnny Thoren, Newton, carded the same total with rounds of 74 and 72.

The other qualifying member from this section is Jug McSpaden, who automatically qualifies, having finished in the first 30 in last year's open play.

LITTLE TOPS U. S. WITH 134 ROUND

Old Man Par apparently hasn't a chance and the best of the amateur golfers not much more when the crack professionals who think they may win the national open championship start taking golf courses apart, according to the Associated Press.

Thirty-one of the best players—the low 30 in last year's open and the home club pro at Cleveland's Canterbury Club where the 1940 tournament will be played June 6-8—were exempted from yesterday's sectional qualifying rounds for the open. Yet when the rest of the entry list of 1163 had finished playing 36-hole rounds in 25 districts the fairways were fairly littered with the pieces they had chopped off par. And only five amateurs were able to lead the way in their respective districts, including two who tied for top honors.

LITTLE SHATTERED PAR

The greatest job of par breaking by any of the 139 qualifiers and one of the greatest ever seen in these sectional rounds was turned in by Lawson Little, who won both the United States and British amateur titles in 1934 and 1935. Notably unsuccessful in his professional career since then, Little suddenly got "hot" and shot amazing rounds of 65-69—134 to lead the big field in the Chicago district. He was eight strokes under par for two Olympia Fields courses and set a record for the No. 4 layout with his 65.

Scores under 70 weren't at all rare with 1132 good golfers firing away.

The exacting test brought the usual number of surprise and heartbreaks as only about one of ten players were able to make the qualifying grade. The highest successful score in any district was 155 at Jacksonville, Fla. The amateur aces were the principal victims. In addition to Willie Turness, 1938 amateur champion, and Ray Billows, last year's runner up to Bud Ward, such prominent simonpures as Chick Evans, one-time amateur and open champion, Art Doering, Bobby Dunkelberger, Trailer Bill Holt, Bob Babbish, Edwin C. Kingsley, Leland Hanman and the former tennis champion, Ellsworth Vines, failed to make the grade.

HOGAN AN ALTERNATE

They weren't alone in this, for Ben Hogan, a sensation among the pros last winter, could earn no better than an alternate's berth, while ex-champions Billy Burke and Willie MacFarlane missed out along with Wiffy Cox, Chandler Harper, Joe Kirkwood, Alvin Krueger, Bill Mehlhorn and Jack Hutchison, senior.

Six former open champions were successful. Gene Sarazen, who hasn't had to play through since 1920 and who still wears knickers when he plays, came through with Johnny Farrell at New York. Walter Hagen made the grade at Cleveland. Johnny Goodman, fomer amateur and open champ, led the field with sub-par golf at Omaha and Tony Manero was first at Boston. Sam Parks, Jr., won his place at Pittsburgh. Martin Pose and Jim Ferrie, champions of Argentina and Australia, respectively, also qualified handily.

The leaders in each district: (Number of qualifiers in district given in brackets):

Auto Classic Final Tests On Today

INDIANAPOLIS, May 28 (AP)—Drivers not yet qualified for the 500-mile Indianapolis motor speedway race Thursday have seven hours today to earn positions in the starting field of 33 cars—and it takes a 10-mile sprint at better than 117.218 miles per hour to qualify.

The field was filled yesterday with the qualification of 14 cars, but the slower racers may be eliminated in favor of speedsters qualifying today at greater speeds.

TRIO IN DANGER

Most likely to be eliminated were two French soldiers who obtained leaves of absence for the race—Rene Dreyfus and Rene Lebegue—and Louis Durant of Herrington, Kan.

Lebegue qualified yesterday at 118.981 miles an hour. Dreyfus at 118.931 and Durant at 117.218. Those three times were the slowest of the 33 qualifiers.

Fastest of the cars scheduled to attempt qualification today are driven by Lloyd Davis of Springfield, Ill., Billy Devore of St. Johns, Kan., and Tony Willman of Milwaukee. All three are capable of 120 miles an hour for the four qualification laps around the two and one-half mile track.

Bob Swanson of Los Angeles qualified his 16-cylinder mount yesterday at 124.619, best time of the day.

CLEAN TRACK TOMORROW

Today's final qualification period ran from 10 a. m. (C.S.T.) to 5 p. m. The track will be closed Wednesday for a final cleaning.

Qualifiers yesterday and their speeds:

Swanson, 124.619; Ralph Hepburn of Los Angeles, 123.860; Emil Andres of Chicago, 122.963; George Robeson of Los Angeles, 122.562; Raul Riganti of Argentina, 121.827; Duke Nalon of Chicago, 121790; Joe Chitwood of Topeka, Kan., 121.757; Chet Miller of Detroit, 121.322; Al Putnam of Los Angeles, 120.818; Paul Russo of Kenosha, Wis., 120.869; Al Miller of Detroit, 120.228; Lebegue, 118.981; Dreyfus, 118.831, and Durant, 117.218.

Christmas Horses Return to Gotham

Tom Waller, W. T. Anderson and B. F. Christmas returned to New York following the Commenwealth Handicap. The horses they shipped to Suffolk Downs for that stake, Pass Out, Wise Bee and Here Goes, respectively, all failed in the six furlong run, with only Pass Out taking any share of the purse.

Lack of Small Bass Worries Anglers

By DARK MONTREAL

To real anglers the weather is important only as it may effect the fishing; thus, as the week-end's fishing remained good it may be stated that the flattening-out northeaster was wholly unimportant.

Despite fog, cold, wind and rain, the run of striped bass improved almost everywhere and the fish taken were good size.

First North river striper of the season was weighed in at Henderson's store in Norwell. The honor went to Richard F. Fuller, Old Corner Bookstore's scholarly proprietor. The striper was a 4½ pounder, fresh-run, caught from Union bridge. It was one of several such taken there during Sunday as the bass swarmed in on the trail of the sand eels.

LANDS 12 POUNDER

Some bully fish were taken at the time off the Wareham river bridge and off the Buzzards Bay bridge over Buttermilk Bay inlet tide rip. Wes Bigney of Brockton caught one that weighed 12½ and another 9. Jimmy Murphy of Brockton came up with three, the smallest five pounds, largest seven and Wes Jenny took the same number, his top fish going eight pounds. Oscar Welch got a seven-pounder.

In the drizzly dawn Sunday morning I counted 20 boats trolling out of John Allen's livery on the Weweantic where, on Saturday, two 12-pounders and two 10-pounders were hung from the scales.

Sunday's fishing was not quite as fast but continued good with very few fish under five pounds. Between the old gunning stand and the island; upstream by the high tension pool and, on the flood, near the Route 6 bridge, were the most productive localities.

PREDICT LEAN YEARS

Absence of the smaller stripers so far has led to belief in some quarters that leaner years may be just ahead in the little-understood cycle of this species reproduction.

My brother Bob killed two salmon on Long Pond Sunday afternoon but there was no sign of the big rainbows that were biting last week. One of these, I learned, fell to the rod of Doc Fuller; it was a 4½ pounder.

Bay State Beagle Club breeders are elated over results at the Morris & Essex Dog Show, Morristown, N. J., Saturday. This is the nation's largest show with 5600 entries. Aristocratic Butcher Boy, owned by Ted Mortenson, Crescent st., West Quincy, went first in the novice class and James "Fly" Flaherty, Mortenson's brother-in-law, set down the field trial winner, his Granite City Bobby. Both these dogs defeated the pick of the country, including champs from the du-Pont kennels.

It always pays to listen to your local guide no matter how much you may know about fishing in general. Elihu T. Feinberg, 3 Melton rd., Brighton, was amply rewarded for knowing it. From a letter written by him:

"Went out two days with old Ellis Smith of Wolfeboro (Merrymeeting Pond, N. H.), who is top notch guide in that locality, Thursday was too windy. Friday was also kind of bad. Got a 2-pound lake trout in the morning. Late Friday, after trying old kinds of nickie and brass spoons, old Ellis dug into his tackle box and passed out a thin-arched, long, pearl spinner for a last drag over his favorite spot. Bingo! A six pound salmon. Am I going to give the Sebago crowd the needles!"

Olympets Open Season Tonight At Garden

Boston's Olympets, class of the East last year, will open their second season of softball tonight at Boston Garden with the Fisk Girls of Springfield furnishing the opposition.

The game will feature a twin bill, the other half of which finds Ben Levias' Totem Pole Girls from Norumbega grappling with the Worcester girls.

The Pets seem invincible again this season. Last season, their first, they cleaned up all opposition, even taking two of three games from Fisk, which previously had had things their own way in this section.

The Pets also defeated New York's Roverettes who were the class of the Metropolitan district.

The girl who started the Pets off to a triumphant season against the Roverettes, Mary Helen Johnston, will be on the mound for the Pets tonight against the Springfield nine.

Mary Helen quit the Pets last season because of ill health but is back this season looking better than ever.

Roxbury Racer At Topsfield

O. G. (Cannonball) Ridlon, furniture mover from Roxbury, will drive his DeLuxe Movers special in the auto races here on May 30th. Ridlon, who, two years ago, toured South America with 40 of the best drivers in the United States, is the only New England driver to ever race car around a race track while blindfolded. This happened at Fall River stadium last Oct. 12.

He will be up against such hot competition as Ed Casterline, Dizzy Vance, Joe Sostillio, Earl Horne, Bumpy Bumpus, Dick Malley, Johnny Wright and others.

'Angel' Retains Mat Crown

The Angel, 280-pound heavyweight from France, today retains his world's championship as a result of his best two out of three fall victory over Steve Casey, former title holder, in a hard match before 5731 fans at a Paul Bowser show at the Garden.

The Angel won the first fall in 21 m. 13 s. with his famous bear hug. Casey came back to capture the second toss in 9 m. 55 s. by using a head over hip lock and body press.

The deciding fall was won by The Angel in 6 m. 43 s. when it looked as if he was going to lose his title. Casey, by a fine exhibition of strength, had clamped an inside crotch hold on the champion, and lifted him in the air over his own head.

As Casey prepared to slam The Angel to the mat, he lost his balance and fell backward and the title holder landed on top of him. Before the Irishman could wiggle off his shoulders, The Angel pinned him for the required three seconds.
